Security Council to Set Up Cyprus Peace Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council voted unanimously today to have Secretary-General U Thant set up a Cyprus peace force and name a mediator to seek peace in the island republic.

The Soviet Union had announced it would support the plan despite strong reservations on the provisions for the creation and control of the force.

Carson Youth Died Following Car Accident

John P. Rosser, 18, Ft. Carson died today in Fitzsimons General Hospital, Denver, of injuries suffered Tuesday night in an automobile accident on the C and S Road.

Rosser, a passenger in a car driven by Marc Haynes, 18, also of Carson, sustained a concussion, broken jaw and lacerations in the accident.

Haynes sustained a scalp laceration.

State Patrolman Arnold Ferrero said the car plunged off the road into a borrow pit and rolled onto its top. The car was declared a total loss.

Rosser's death raised the state highway fatalities total to 57 so far this year, four less than in the same period last year.

Southern Rockies Struck by Fast Moving Storm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A fast-moving snow storm from the southern Rockies swept across Midwest areas today and thunderstorms and rain hit sections from Texas eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

The storm that left nearly a foot of snow in parts of the South spread across areas in Nebraska, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin and headed into central and eastern sections of upper Michigan.

Warnings of heavy snow were issued by the Weather Bureau for central areas.

Thunderstorms hit areas in east Texas and Oklahoma and spread eastward across parts of Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama and Mississippi. Hail was reported in some parts of the storm belt.

Freezing rain pelleted some parts of the upper Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes region.

Colder air moved into the upper Great Lakes region but temperatures generally were in the 20s and higher. It was cold and clear in most of the snow-covered areas in the Southwest. Denver reported a reading of six above.

Mild weather prevailed in much of the East and South with temperatures far above seasonal marks in many areas. Record high readings for March 3 were reported Thursday in Daytona Beach, Fla., with 88, and Buffalo, N.Y., with 55.

FLANDERS DIES

PUEBLO (UPI)—Former city councilman Milo J. Flanders, 78, died Tuesday at a Pueblo hospital following a long illness. Flanders had been active in civic affairs in the 1940s and 1950s, and served as councilman from 1950 to 1953. Funeral arrangements were pending at the Rouch Funeral Home here.

DEAD HAND TRANSPLANTED—With the right hand of another man attached to his arm, 32-year-old Ecuador sailor, Julio Luna Vera, keeps a constant smile as he recovers in a Guayaquil clinic hoping the transplant will be a success. Vera lost his hand in an accident and surgeons sewed the hand of a dead man in its place. Latest reports were Vera could move some fingers of the new "dead" hand, and that he was able to move the hand in circular motion. The grafting operation was performed in early February after his hand was shattered by a grenade explosion. (AP Wirephoto)

Secrecy Almost Total on New American Plane

By STANLEY MEISLER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Development of the A11, the new 2,000-mile-an-hour jet plane, was so secret that only a few members of Congress knew about it.

This indicates the plane was developed with Central Intelligence Agency funds rather than the Defense Department's. A number of congressional committees are privy to the Pentagon's activities. Only a few senators and representatives are on the committee overseeing the CIA.

It means that the House, in a recent debate on defense spending, did not have full information at hand when it overruled Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and approved an extra $47 million for research on an improved manned interceptor plane.

Existence of the plane was announced by President Johnson at his news conference Saturday. He said the planes, which can operate at higher altitudes as long-range interceptors, tested "to determine their capabilities."

Johnson noted that several key Congress members had been informed about the plane's development.

One member of the House, who knew about the A11 for many months, described its development as the best kept American secret since development of the atomic bomb in World War II.

In the House Armed Services Committee, for example, only a few members are believed to have known about the plane's secret development.

An informed source said that these few were informed because they have a special assignment that allows them to receive such information.

This most likely means that these congressmen were members of the committee's subcommittee on the CIA.

Ironically, the members of this subcommittee were among the strongest boosters for the $40-million authorization for research on an improved interceptor.

The weapon, lighter than the M1 rifle and powered by a backpack of batteries weighing less than 25 pounds, has been delivered to Frankford Arsenal, Philadelphia.

The rifle's ray, the firm said, is not enough to inflict serious bodily harm but could set fire to a soldier's clothes. It could also blind someone at ranges of up to a mile.

Another use, according to Maser officials, could be to ignite explosive fuses or set fires.

Mild weather prevailed in much of the East and South with temperatures far above seasonal marks in many areas. Record high readings for March 3 were reported Thursday in Daytona Beach, Fla., with 88, and Buffalo, N.Y., with 55.

Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade, facing the 52-year-old defendant, then read the indictment charging that Ruby did "with malice aforethought kill Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy."

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamster Union was convicted today on two charges of seeking to fix the jury which tried him on a conspiracy charge in 1962.

The jury acquitted him on a third charge.

Also convicted were three men on trial with him — Ewing King and Thomas E. Parks of Nashville and Larry Campbell of Detroit.

Two Springs Men, Hart, Campbell Injured in Crash

Two Colorado Springs men were injured Monday, one seriously, when their car collided with a truck in Kansas.

Derald Hart, manager of Westland Theaters here, is in the Genn Hospital in Wamego, Kan., which is about 14 miles east of Manhattan on U.S. 24.

Hart sustained a fractured pelvis in the accident and was reported today as resting comfortably. Arrangements are being made to bring the injured man back to Colorado Springs.

Also injured was Howard Campbell, Westland's booker and buyer, who sustained face lacerations and possible broken ribs. He was to return to Colorado Springs today.

In the car, but not injured, were Larry Jensen, manager of the Chief Theatre and driver of the car; Clayton Cheever, theater manager at Grand Junction and Frank Rush, Pueblo theater manager.

The men were on their way to a theater convention in Kansas at the time of the accident.

Reports indicate that a truck passed the car carrying the area men and swung in front of them to make a left turn. The accident ensued. Jensen is remaining in Wamego to make arrangements to bring Hart back. Rush and Cheever went on to the convention.

Compromise For Cyprus Awaits Okay

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Western diplomats expressed confidence today that the Soviet Union would not veto a widely backed compromise plan authorizing a U.N. peace force for Cyprus.

Diplomatic sources said the Russians were far from satisfied with the plan sponsored by five elected members of the Security Council.

But because the Greek Cypriot government had decided to accept the plan, the Russians were expected to abstain in the council vote today rather than kill the proposed resolution.

In Athens, 2,000 Greeks burned an effigy of President Johnson in front of the U.S. Embassy Tuesday night. Thousands of others poured through the streets shouting denunciations of the United States and Britain for allegedly taking Turkey's side in the dispute.

They roared "Bravo Russia," "Johnson-Al Capone" and "Out with the fleet." Units of the U.S. 6th Fleet are holding joint exercises.

Hoffa sat motionless, his face a grim mask, as jury foreman Hal W. Bullen of Chattanooga read the verdict. It was Hoffa's first conviction in five federal trials dating back to 1957.

Hoffa could receive a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and a fine of $10,000. The others could receive up to 5 years and $5,000 each.

Hoffa, Parks and Campbell were convicted of offering a

Castro Says Guantanamo Can Have Water 'Again'

By DANIEL HARKER
HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro said early today he is ready to supply the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay with water once again.

"Cuba considers the incident of the water at Guantanamo Bay closed and is ready to supply the base with water once again," the prime minister told foreign newsmen at a Moroccan Embassy reception.

"It is up to the Americans to use that water or not," he added.

Castro cut off Guantanamo's water supply on Feb. 6 in retaliation for the arrest of 38 Cuban fishermen and the seizure of four trawlers in American waters off Florida.

Twenty-nine of the fishermen were returned to Cuba Feb. 21 with their boats after the four captains paid fines for poaching. Two fishermen chose asylum in the United States. The other seven were freed as juveniles and returned to Havana.

The U.S. government is not expected to take up Castro's offer to turn the base's water back on. It has plans to make the base self-sufficient with the

U.S. Tax Cuts Will Show Up On Thursday's Paychecks

By ROGER LANE
NEW YORK (AP)—Federal tax cut benefits will show up in paychecks of millions of Americans starting Thursday.

But the extra money gushing into the nation's spending stream—or savings institutions—probably won't total the $800 million a month estimated by some tax cut backers.

A cross-country Associated Press survey showed a scattering of employees, mostly salaried, had asked that benefits be stored up for them.

Most workers apparently looked forward with relish to a reduction in taxes withheld.

"I want every nickel I can get my hands on to pay my bills," said a Cleveland employee of the Internal Revenue Service.

Employers reported few hitches in adjusting payroll procedures, especially concerns with automated bookkeeping. Basically, they hereafter will withhold 14 per cent of earnings instead of 18 per cent.

"We just changed a few wires in the machine and that was it," said Manley Eubank in Raleigh, N.C. Eubank's Central Data Processing unit runs off paychecks for 10,000 North Carolina state employees.

The $11.5-billion tax cut, largest in U.S. history, provides reductions averaging 19 per cent for 80 million citizens.

"No trouble at all" or "it took only a couple of minutes" were common reports from employers, including such giants as General Motors Corp. with

Multi-Million U.S. Fallout Shelter Program Junked

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—For Asst. Secretary of Defense Stuart L. Pittman, the Senate shelving of a multimillion-dollar request for fallout shelters is just a "setback that throws us off schedule."

Pittman, who is in charge of the nation's civil defense program, has been fighting for his cause for 2½ years, with the backing of the administration but with indifferent congressional and public response.

Last September things looked up for him. The House changed its previous position and voted $190.6 million for a program providing federal incentive in the building of fallout shelter spaces in institutions, schools, hospitals and other nonprofit structures.

Then on Monday matters took a turn for the worse, again. A Senate Armed Services subcommittee voted 4-1 to defer action on the House-approved bill, which probably means there will be no action this year.

Pittman, in an interview, preferred to review this development as a delay in meeting

$10,000 bribe to the son of a Negro juror in the 1962 trial.

Campbell is business agent for the Detroit Teamsters local of which Hoffa is president. Parks, a handyman, is Campbell's uncle. Both Campbell and Parks are Negroes.

Hoffa and King, former Nashville Teamsters president, were convicted of offering a promotion in the Tennessee Highway Patrol to a state trooper whose wife was on the Nashville jury. The jurors acquitted Hoffa on a charge in which he was accused of aiding and abetting two businessmen in trying to rig the jury. The businessmen, Nicholas Tweel of Huntington, W. Va., and Allen Dorfman of Chicago, also were acquitted.

The jury deliberated a total of 5 hours and 40 minutes, after receiving the case at 7:25 Tuesday night. The verdict came just 20 minutes after the luncheon recess.

Hoffa had said earlier that the jury's verdict would determine his future as a labor leader.

KENNETH J. CURRAN

Kenneth J. Curran Named Dean of Colorado College

Prof. Kenneth J. Curran today was named dean of Colorado College. He had been acting dean since August.

President Lloyd E. Wornor, in announcing the appointment, said Dr. Curran was offered the deanship last May, but refused to accept it at that time except on an acting basis.

"I was very pleased that the Committee on the Deanship unanimously recommended Kenneth Curran," President Wornor said. "The Board of Trustees unanimously and enthusiastically approved the appointment. His acceptance guarantees experienced and sound leadership for the academic program of Colorado College."

Curran has been a professor of economics and chairman of the department of economics and business administration since 1950, when he came to Colorado College from Princeton. (Turn to Page 6, Column 5)

Federal Aid Opponent Says Was 'Scratched'

DENVER (UPI)—Mrs. Shirley Fryxell, legislative chairman for the Arapahoe County PTA Council last year, said today she believes she was scratched as a speaker at a PTA program at Wason High School in Colorado Springs because she opposed federal aid to education.

Mrs. Fryxell said she and five others on the program were to have discussed various segments of the national PTA legislative program Thursday night. She said she was asked to appear on the program two months ago but last week was notified the program had been changed and her appearance no longer was necessary.

"I've learned some Colorado Springs PTA people did some checking on me and apparently didn't like what they learned... they were afraid I'd really present arguments against federal aid," she said.

Rock Creek Water District Bond Vote Postponed

The Rock Creek Mesa Water District bond election, originally scheduled for Tuesday, has been postponed for an indefinite period of time due to a legal technicality.

Taxpayers in the district were to decide whether or not to issue negotiable coupon bonds in the amount of $100,000 for the purpose of constructing or acquiring a complete water supply, storage, treatment, transmission and distribution system for the district.

The technicality involved the failure of members of the district to have a quorum present when the election was called. District officials said this morning that it is hoped the election can be held before the end of this month.

If approved, the 20-year bonds will bear interest of not more than 4½ per cent per annum.

WORRY CLINIC

Rosalie is an ambitious mother with a great deal of talent, but she needs money. So she wonders how she can earn a few extra dollars at home, for she has a daughter not yet of school age, plus two who are in school each day. Even if you don't need cash, that No. 3 item is a lot of fun for the entire family.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE S-403: Rosalie B., aged 36, has a daughter in college. "Dr. Crane," she began, "what can a housewife do at home to earn some extra money?"

"Since we have three children, the oldest being in college, our budget is taxed to the breaking point."

"So I'd like to be able to earn a little extra money, but I must do it at home for our youngest daughter is only 4."

PIN MONEY PROJECTS

Many wives are in the same boat with Rosalie, so pass along the suggestions that follow:

(1) Develop a baby-sitting clientele.

If you mothers can't leave your own homes, then invite your clients to bring their youngster over to your house.

For many mothers need to go downtown shopping, yet haven't a competent person to tend the baby.

That is especially true during the daytime, for the usual teenage high school baby-sitter is then at school.

So you can, often build up a very good daytime baby-sitter business, as well as handling some evening demands, too.

It doesn't take very long to get the news scattered abroad that you are available for baby-sitting, for you can telephone friends or put a notice in the newspaper or a card on the bulletin board at your church.

(2) Establish a part-time home typing or bookkeeping service.

This is especially needed by

Slingshots Used by Modern-Day Cowboys

WHEATLAND, Wyo. (AP)—The weapon of modern day cowboys, says Bob Lukens, has become the slingshot.

He is selling them by the hundreds to stockmen and cowboys who find them useful in flushing cattle and horses from brush. Lukens said cowboys also use them in shooting tranquilizing darts into livestock or subduing rattlesnakes.

The International Court, judicial arm of the United Nations, consists of 15 judges, serving nine-year terms, elected by the Security Council and the General Assembly.

Nixon Denounces Sale of British Buses to Cubans

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon on Tuesday assailed the British firm that sold buses to Communist Cuba. "If they sell buses to Castro, then they can't sell autos here," he said.

Nixon didn't mention the British firm by name. But there was little doubt he was referring to Leyland Motors Ltd. when he called for a "selective embargo" against foreign companies that trade with Cuba.

He told 1,300 persons at a luncheon meeting of the New York Building Congress that American markets should be closed to foreign firms that sell anything except food and medicine to Cuba.

Nixon urged Congress to adopt a resolution giving the State Department authority to impose a "selective embargo" that would pinpoint economic penalties against individual companies rather than entire nations.

If such embargoes fail to break Prime Minister Fidel Castro's grip on Cuba, Nixon said, the United States should try every measure short of an all-out blockade or invasion.

He told newsmen later such measures could include a specific blockade to cut off Soviet oil shipments to Cuba.

Diem Regime Almost Forgotten In Viet Nam

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A stream of traffic rumbles over a patch of asphalt where a Buddhist monk set fire to his gasoline-soaked robes nine months ago, catapulting Viet Nam's Buddhist crisis into world attention.

The fiery suicides of Thich Quang Duc and the five monks and one nun who followed his example sparked a national crisis that led to a coup d'etat.

U.S. policy in this strife-torn nation was rocked to the core. Highly informed diplomats said Thich Quang Duc's suicide was a major deciding factor in President John F. Kennedy's decision to send Henry Cabot Lodge here as ambassador last August.

Huge demonstrations of Buddhists were smashed by club-wielding special police in Ngo Diem's desperate bid to suppress revolt.

Not so much as a plaque is at the place where Thich Quang Duc burned to death June 11, but the old monk's heart is venerated at Xa Loi Pagoda, the city's main Buddhist center.

The tough-minded Monks who set up their headquarters at Xa Loi have split up, returning to the pagodas from which they had assembled last May. Hundreds aroused in the last six months of the Diem regime seem almost forgotten.

"We believe South Viet Nam's revolutionary government supports complete religious equality, and Buddhists are well satisfied," says a leading Buddhist spokesman. He is Thich Duc Nghiep, one of the leaders of the Buddhist revolt who were jailed in Diem's pagoda raids last Aug. 21.

Duc Nghiep gained wide attention after delivering a speech at Quang Duc's suicide, and as spokesman for the Buddhist high command.

He lives in a small cubicle at Saigon's Giac Minh Pagoda, where he says: "It is good to get back to my normal life. I must say, my room at Xa Loi Pagoda was cooler than here, but we are monks, and we must live as monks."

Many Roman Catholics feared reprisals after the military coup on Nov. 1, because of hatreds generated during the Diem regime. Diem was a Catholic.

In November and December mobs of youths waving the Buddhist flag burned houses belonging to Catholics in coastal towns. The Rev. Patrick J. O'Connor says he knows of no further incidents.

Father O'Connor, a Catholic journalist, has served as an unofficial spokesman for his church here since the Buddhist crisis started.

He says: "I believe the new government is trying to be fair, although I think it may sometimes bend over backwards to be fair to the Buddhists, the Cao Dai, the Hoa Hao and the other non-Christian sects. But I believe the government was embarrassed by the anti-Catholic incidents of November and December, and put out the word that such incidents must stop. I think the young Buddhists and the Communists who tried to mix in with them also cooled down."

Carson Division Has Jump Qualified Men

The 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) at Ft. Carson has three jump-qualified Air Force officers since Capt. Walter J. Swaney led officer students in the airborne course which he completed recently at Ft. Benning, Ga.

The captain, who is 3rd Brigade forward air controller, was the third to complete the airborne course joining Lt. Col. Clyde Stain, division air liaison officer, and Capt. Robert Chastain, 1st Brigade forward air controller.

These officers are assigned by the 12th Air Force to coordinate air support to the 5th Division from Cannon Air Force Base, New Mexico. Six airmen radio technicians serve with them at Carson and with the division in the field.

The forward air controllers advise brigade commanders on tactical air operations, Air Force techniques and equipment. They also give lectures and briefings to Ft. Carson troops on the capabilities and limitations of tactical air power, and actively participated in the direction of close air support strikes during training exercises.

The three officers have taken the jump training because each tactical fighter squadron in the Tactical Air Command is required to have 10 jump-qualified forward air controllers.

On the Greek island of Rhodes, off the Turkish coast, 3,000 high school students stoned the U.S. Information Agency building, the Turkish consulate and the U.S. Coast Guard vessel Courier, which serves as a transmitter for the Voice of America. They also overturned a car belonging to the Courier at dockside.

The students hooted down a government official who pleaded, "The Americans are our friends." Fights broke out when police moved in to quell the disorders.

Greek Premier George Papandreu ordered police not to interfere with the demonstrations but said he wanted all foreign embassies and property protected from "every act of violence and villainy."

"I am proud of the reports of Greek youth and the Greek people in general making patriotic demonstrations for Cyprus," Papandreu said.

Secretary-General U. Thant appeared confident the Security Council would approve the compromise plan authorizing him to set up an international peace force for Cyprus and to appoint a mediator to seek a solution in the constitutional strife between the island's Greek and Turkish communities.

France, another council member with a veto, also had reservations about the peace plan, asserting it "merely gets at the effects and not the cause" of the strife. In Paris, Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte gave the impression France would abstain in the council vote, but French sources at the United Nations said French delegate Roger Seydoux would vote for the plan.

However, Peyrefitte said President Charles de Gaulle's government advocates revision of both the Cypriot constitution, which gives the Turkish Cypriot minority veto powers that the Greek Cypriots want to remove, and of the 1960 Zurich-London agreements under which Britain, Greece and Turkey are empowered to intervene on the island to preserve the constitution.

Peyrefitte said his government would reveal its "positive position" — presumably meaning proposals to change the constitution and the accords — at some unspecified time.

De Gaulle previously had refused to commit French troops to a Cyprus peace force from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which was proposed earlier by the United States and Britain.

The council resolution — sponsored by Brazil, Bolivia, the Ivory Coast, Norway and Morocco — puts a three-month time limit on the U.N. force. During this time, the mediator will seek to bring together the feuding Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

AIR TAXIS GAIN NEW YORK (UPI) — Air taxi traffic in the United States in 1963 ran 10 to 15 per cent ahead of last year when the country's 100 air taxi operators carried 56,499 passengers to and from airports, the National Air Taxi Conference reports.

The Nation's Weather

(Report furnished by U.S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field)

The storm centered over Wisconsin this morning is an off-spring from the disturbance in the south central U. S. during the past day. This storm continues to produce heavy snow for Northern Wisconsin. For example, Park Falls, Wis., about 120 miles northeast of Minneapolis, Minn., has 17 inches on the ground, eight of which fell in the last 12 hours.

Another storm center in Arkansas has released copious showers and thundershowers in the Mississippi Valley. Of the heavier amounts received, Memphis, Tenn., reports 2.71 inches in the last six hours.

The Northern Plains and Southwest have generally clear skies this morning while cloudy skies covered much of the remainder of the country.

Protocol Chief Gets to Be Seen On Video, Too

By CYNTHIA LOWRY NEW YORK (AP) — Last September when the U.S. State Department was busy arranging a three-day state visit of Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, NBC was almost as busy preparing a report on the etiquette of a state visit.

The report, "Our Man in Washington," was shown Tuesday night.

NBC cameras were in State Department offices when Angier Biddle Duke, in charge of protocol, discussed final details with the Ethiopian ambassador.

Cameras were in the royal train as it drew up to the Washington station platform and a formal reception complete with a 21-gun salute.

Cameras were in the kitchens during preparations for a lavish State Department luncheon. They were behind the bar at the emperor's $9,000, 1,000-guest reception for official Washington.

Cameras were trained on President John F. Kennedy, looking healthy and tanned, as he received the emperor.

Sight of the late president was a damper to this viewer on the rest of the light-hearted program.

It was one of David Brinkley's occasional specials. Perhaps because of the presence of Kennedy, he seemed rather restrained in his comment.

Brinkley does have a keen eye for detail. He noted the care used to hang Ethiopian flags right side up — because they become Bolivian flags when upside down. His cameras lingered lovingly on bartenders' agile hands, on platters of meatballs and shrimps at the cocktail party, on the pastry gun making icing rosettes on a cake.

A touching moment was recorded after the emperor, an admirer of Abraham Lincoln, laid a silver wreath at the Lincoln Memorial. As an interpreter translated the Gettysburg Address, tears were clearly visible in the sovereign's eyes.

"Our Man in Washington" made magnificent use of color. For those who saw the program in all its glory it was a most interesting 60 minutes. For others it must have dragged frequently. There was a marked tendency to linger overlong, like impolite guests, at the receptions and parties.

"I am delighted that Kenneth Curran has agreed to accept the deanship of Colorado College," said Armin B. Barney, 20, chairman of the college's Board of Trustees. "He has endeared himself to the Colorado Springs community and has ably demonstrated his capabilities for leadership both as department chairman for 14 years and as acting dean during the past few months."

"When I took on the dean's job in an acting capacity, I was sure I would be anxious to get back to teaching as soon as possible," Dr. Curran said. "I am still very glad that I spent most of my academic life teaching, as it is there that the real work of a college is done. However, I have found the work of the dean's office much more interesting and varied than I expected, and I welcome the opportunity to continue in it."

Curran earned a bachelor of science degree in economics at Princeton in 1925 and a master's degree the following year. As an undergraduate he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society.

He spent the next 10 years in the world of business. In 1936, he went to Persia and Iraq, where he managed the Teheran and Baghdad offices of the American-Persian Development and Trading Corp. The firm imported machinery.

Later, he joined Standard Brands and became assistant to the plant manager in Chicago. In 1938 he became an instructor at Princeton University while he worked toward a Ph.D. which he received in 1941.

During World War II, Curran served with the U.S. Army as a lieutenant colonel. He attended the army's school of military government and served in North Africa and Italy.

In Italy, he was with the Allied Control Commission, in charge of arranging transportation for food to the civilian population.

In 1946 he was presented with the Order of Cavallier d'Italia for "service to the Italian people" by Umberto II, king of Italy.

Curran is the author of one book, "Excess Profits Taxation," and a regular contributor to the Journal of Marketing for the past 10 years. For six years he was staff editor of the journal's Legal Developments Section, recently having been succeeded by Prof. Ray O. Werner of Colorado College.

From 1954 to 1963, Curran was marshal of the faculty at Colorado College. During his years at the college, he has been chairman of numerous faculty committees including the Public Lectures Committee, Academic Program Committee, Executive Committee of Social Sciences, and the Faculty Salaries and Tenure Committee.

He also has served as Colorado College director of the Union Carbide Scholarship Program. The Colorado College dean is a member of the American Marketing Association, the American Economics Association, the Colorado-Wyoming Social Sciences Association, and is a past president of the college chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

He is married to the former Miss Elizabeth Hare.

Castro also had another swipe for Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who after the water was cut off said the United States should send a battalion of Marines to turn the water on.

Asked what he thought about the U.S. presidential race, Castro replied: "I am rooting for Goldwater because I believe he will lose votes that way. I am even ready to send him a small contribution for his campaign."

"I think Goldwater will not win in the election because the American people, like any other people, want peace and they don't want to die. The Republican programs are aggressive and stupid and I believe that they will lose."

TWO-STORY HOUSE BURNS

Rental property at 1114 E. Cimarron St., owned by Raymond Smith of Chipita Park, was partially destroyed Tuesday when a fire of undetermined cause broke out in one of three apartments. Companies 1 and 4, with Deputy Chief Argus Cummings in charge, responded to the alarm at 12:57 p.m. and were back in quarters by 2:38 p.m. Heavy damage, including loss of furniture and clothing, was reported to the apartment occupied by Airman I.C. Annise Williams, his wife, and four children, where it is believed the fire originated. The adjoining apartment occupied by Willie Christian, received water and smoke damage, and a third apartment, occupied by Herbert Harrod, received little damage. No one was injured in the fire. Smith, who said the house was covered by insurance, plans to rebuild. Meanwhile, the homeless Williams family is staying at Ft. Carson. Persons wishing to help the family with donations of clothing, etc. may contact Major Charles Tobin Jr., Ent Air Force Base, at 635-8911, Ext. 4307 or 4308. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

Robert Kennedy Still in Picture As Possible Veep

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is "staying loose" in the face of persistent reports that he is a leading contender for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

He has not taken himself out of the picture. But he solemnly, and to all comers, refused to indulge in speculation about any possibility President Johnson will ask him to join him on the ticket.

He is seemingly unconcerned or amused by speculative pieces in the press that he not only would accept the nomination but is actively seeking it by his increasing public appearances.

"If I stayed away from the public they'd say I was sulking in my office," he told a reporter.

"I'm not going to say anything to answer these stories. I just haven't made up my mind about the future and there's no reason why I should be pushed into making it up."

He told a television interviewer: "It's a little bit like a woman if you ask her 'if so-and-so would ask you to marry him' then would you marry him?"

He hasn't been asked, and I want to really decide my own future later on, not try to make up my mind now."

Of the vice presidential nomination, he remarked, "I have no interest in it at the present time."

In the 3 1/2 months since the assassination of his brother, President John F. Kennedy, Robert Kennedy has snapped back to what appears to outsiders to be his old self.

Having vowed to remain attorney general through the election, he has conveyed the image of a busy public official. He is jovial, friendly and active.

He has resumed the practice of inviting American and foreign students into his office, where they can fire questions at him — and he makes it clear that politics is definitely included.

But he brushes aside with a laugh their questions about the vice presidency, commenting only, "I like it where I am."

McNamara Goes Off to Asia To Fight Viets

By FRED S. HOFFMAN WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will take off for South Viet Nam Thursday night, cool to proposals to carry the war against Communist North Viet Nam.

Anything but a "soft liner," McNamara is understood to feel the South Vietnamese forces will win or lose the fight by the way they go about eliminating the Communist insurgents inside their own country.

The defense chief is said to believe the Vietnamese lack the capability to carry on a full-scale campaign in South Viet Nam and at the same time strike into the north.

McNamara reportedly is against sending Americans on any such operations into North Viet Nam.

It is his position, both in public and private, that the U.S. military men — 15,500 of them now — are in South Viet Nam as trainers and advisers, and that the fighting must be done by the Vietnamese.

McNamara recognizes that guerrilla operations or air strikes into Red territory might slow supplies and reinforcements to Communist elements inside South Viet Nam.

But he contends this will not solve the basic problem that has plagued the U.S.-supported effort since it began on a big scale more than two years ago.

That problem: how to win the backing of the people in the countryside for the government in Saigon.

Evidence reaching the Pentagon since the most recent coup a little over a month ago has not been conclusive, in the view of top officials, as to whether the Vietnamese people have rallied to Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, the new premier, any more than they stood behind the two governments before.

One thing Khanh is doing pleases U.S. authorities — he is going out into the country on a meet-the-people campaign. One of McNamara's chief aims in his fourth trip halfway around the world is to find what can be done to get the war back on the track again — to get the machinery of government and command working after the disruption of the second coup in three months.

It appears unlikely that U.S. policy will take any spectacular new turn as a result of McNamara's visit. It is considered highly improbable that any U.S. combat troops will be sent to South Viet Nam.

Rocky Swings To Economy in Drive for Votes

By ROBERT T. GRAY CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller swung to economic issues today after charging that the nation's security had diminished under President Johnson.

He said the national administration did not believe in the free enterprise system.

A sustained attack on the Democratic administration marked the opening of Rockefeller's last campaign swing for the New Hampshire presidential preference primary next Tuesday.

The New York governor de-toured to Washington Tuesday and delivered a 5,000-word attack on what he termed "foreign policy failures of the Democratic administration."

"The foreign policy of this nation has been vacillating and contradictory," Rockefeller told a crowded news conference in his Washington campaign headquarters. "It has underestimated the Communist challenge and it has given credence to the belief that the U.S. no longer has the power or the will to shape events."

For alternatives he offered: Closer ties between free world nations and the joint development by those countries of common objectives and policies in trade and other dealings with the Communist bloc.

A prompt meeting between President Johnson and President Charles de Gaulle of France to resolve disagreements between the two nations.

Halting economic aid to nations engaging in aggression, particularly aid to Indonesia, until it "stops its aggression against Malaysia."

In his sharpest and most direct criticism of the President thus far, Rockefeller hit at Johnson personally.

"The leader cannot console himself as President Johnson did with the phrase that, if today's problems were solved, new ones would arise tomorrow. For surely if we do not solve today's problems, those of tomorrow will become unmanageable."

The governor took up the question of the national economy in a statement issued as he began a round of speeches and handshaking tours today in the Concord area.

He estimated that New Hampshire would need 50,000 and the nation 20 million new jobs in the next five years. He said they could be provided only by a national administration which would "encourage the growth of free enterprise."

Ingavonina Wins Russian Skating Title

SVERDLOVSK, Russia (AP) — Lidia Skoblikova, the Russian speed skater who swept four gold medals at the Olympic Games, isn't the Soviet Union's top woman skater. That honor belongs to Ingavonina, a 26-year-old Moscow girl who beat Miss Skoblikova Tuesday in the Russian national championships.

The national title was the third for Miss Voronina who was ill at the time of the Olympics and did not compete at Innsbruck. She collected 195.26 points in the four championship events with Miss Skoblikova the runner-up on 198.066 points.

Miss Voronina won the 1,500 and 3,000-meter races, tied for first in the 1,000-meter event and was fourth at 500 meters. Miss Skoblikova was second in the 500 and 1,500 meters and third in the 1,000 and 3,000-meter races.

Safety of Property Comes First

Daniel Webster once stated: "No other rights are safe where property is not safe." Surely, the observation is valid.

But for property to be safe we must have a generally accepted understanding of its sanctity. This can only occur in a nation or community where the rights of individuals to their own privately owned property are considered as a total condition.

If some assume that they have "rights" which can take property away from another, then it follows that property cannot be safe.

Abraham Lincoln once addressed himself to this same area of thought. In 1864, just a hundred years ago, he observed: "There should be no war upon property, or the owners of property. Property is the fruit of labor; property is desirable; it is a positive good in the world. That some would be rich shows that others may become rich, and hence, is just encouragement to industry and enterprise."

It has ordinarily been felt that this was the prime purpose of government... to make property safe. Indeed, James Madison, one of the men who drafted the Constitution, commented: "The prime function of government is the protection of the different and unequal faculties of man for acquiring property."

And for many years this thought about the prime purpose of government has had such wide acceptance that even to study the matter objectively can induce mental anguish into well conditioned brains.

What Madison and others did not see is that government, regardless of intended restraints, has a way of expanding. And every action of government is paid for by some far against property or the owners of property.

When governments remain small and impotent, men are accustomed to accept the tolls government places upon them. They want protection and they

Heavy Burden

Hard work is what you are doing now. But the hardest work is what you should have done at an earlier time.

Narcotics Problem

Apparently, the narcotics hysteria is with us again. A presidential advisory commission has called for a major overhaul of federal narcotics laws.

The commission is requesting the government to go all out against dope peddlers — "the criminals who get rich on this vicious trade. The gangsters who profit by hundreds of millions of dollars a year, and seem to be highly organized international operators, covert and ruthless."

The group, known as the E. Barrett Prettyman commission, is headed by Prettyman, a former chief judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

The report, at the present time, is under the status of a citizens' report. White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger has told pressmen that it is unknown at present whether the President would transmit the proposals of the commission to the Congress with his blessing.

Regardless of the outcome of the proposals or congressional action concerning the enforcement of any new drug laws, it is time to take a look at the moral issue involved. Actually, there is only one moral way to eliminate the harmful traffic in drugs.

Such an elimination could be done without the expense of law enforcement which is basically responsible for the traffic continuance.

Aside from those already addicted to the use of narcotics, what actually causes other persons in general to become acquainted with the drugs? Those peddlers if you will, who stand to gain by pushing a product made valuable because of its scarcity. What causes the drugs to be scarce? The laws of the country which forbid their sale on the open market.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question No. 455: "I agree with your philosophy of freedom and government, but I don't understand whether you advocate taking no part, either by backing certain candidates or in any other way."

Answer: Each individual must make his own decision as to how much sanction he will give to the political agencies which infringe on his individual rights. Our effort is to show that there is a better way than reliance on the compulsion of the government to finance services which may or may not be desirable.

There are varying thoughts among Freedom Newspaper editors as to whether an individual should use the ballot, even defensively, such as to oppose a law which infringes individual rights.

There are some who believe they can help restore constitutional limitations on their elected politicians by voting for candidates who attempt to adhere to the ideas expressed by the writers of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. Others believe that by voting at all they are giving their sanction to a majority decision even tho they believe the majority to be violating moral law. Some believe only in defensive use by voting negatively against infringements.

As we said at the start, each individual must make his own decision. But regardless of voting, if each individual will consciously and deliberately do everything legally possible to avoid using the compulsion of government, he will help reduce the size of government and be closer to living in freedom.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

about 14 times more convictions than the English."

The doctor recalls that Thomas Jefferson, distressed over the ravages of alcohol, said that a great many people spent most of their time talking politics, avoiding work and drinking whiskey.

"One wonders what he would have said today if some muddled citizen warned him that opiates were rotting the moral fiber of our people," the doctor continued.

We rather believe that the writer of the Declaration of Independence would advocate obtaining non-restriction of the offensive product, thereby reducing its market value and removing the incentive to push it for sale.

It's simple to prove the value of this statement. Just think of what determines the value of gold and precious stones; certainly not an abundance.

Crusoe or Atlas?

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, PhD thru a New York subway system.

Several years ago when I first began to study human action and the motivations thereof, I encountered something termed "Crusoe economics." Having read Robinson Crusoe at a rather young age, I became rather quickly bored with theories based upon the actions of characters in a novel — particularly when I discovered that different economists further fictionalized the novel. At that time, I considered writing up an entirely different set of theories based upon the actions of young Mr. Brewster in "Brewster's Millions." Seven or eight years ago I decided that if novels should be used for the purpose of finding justification and validity for economic theory, "Atlas Shrugged," the great novel by Ayn Rand, could serve the purpose very well.

Obviously, a great many people study for the sake of studying and I have no quarrel with anybody who wishes to study for the sole purpose of increasing his or her own knowledge. On the other hand, I have been studying human action for the purpose of trying to find a way out of the mess created by theories, some of which were based upon the actions of characters in a novel. To further confuse the issue, I have discovered that much of the writings on the subject of economics stems from educators and writers who have basically provincial ideas in the first place. While many people who live in metropolitan close quarters seem inclined to denounce those who do not have an equally metropolitan point of view, I have found the metropolitan point of view to be fantastically narrow.

If we are going to study for the purpose of trying to find solutions to problems which limit the actions of human beings living with a variety of environmental conditions, the study should have a base as wide as the conditions encountered, and consideration of principles should not be limited by a narrow point of view. If barter is a factor worthy of consideration, it should not be cast aside simply because it might be difficult to haze a herd of cattle to those who insist they must not be inconvenienced. I suggest that the status quo under which they may turn their responsibilities over to government must be relatively compatible for them, in which case there is no good reason for them to attempt to argue the point with me.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

A Free Market For the Farmer

By OSCAR COOLEY
Associate Professor of Economics
Ohio Northern University

Jay Triplett, a cattle feeder of Bovina, Texas, writes to correct me regarding beef imports, on which I had commented a month ago.

He assures me that beef is not "scarce" in this country, that 10 per cent of the beef consumed here last year was imported not because of scarcity but "because we lowered our duty in 1947 to a ridiculously low 3 cents per lb."

He points out that "slaughter steer prices have fallen sharply since November 1962. . . This is caused by a plentiful supply of domestic beef plus the 10 per cent or more of foreign imports."

"Cattlemen who are forced to sell their product on a free market while paying artificially high prices for grain are merely asking for relief from this deluge of foreign beef."

I am answering Mr. Triplett in this column because other readers, too, may have disagreed with my former article.

In that article I said that if corn is over-abundant as Washington claims, beef, which is produced largely by feeding corn should not be so "scarce" that it has to be imported. Thus, I implied that beef is "scarce" in America.

Now, of course, beef is not scarce in the sense of being unavailable to consumers (nor is anything else in a free market).

Every day our supermarkets are well stocked with beef. Beef is scarce only in the sense that demand is great enough, with relation to supply, to cause beef to be bought from foreign as well as domestic producers.

This is proven by the fact that beef is being imported.

This does not necessarily mean that demand for beef has increased, altho it is increasing a little all the time, or that supply put on the market by our cattlemen has decreased. It may mean that the cost of producing beef abroad has dropped, so that the foreign producers can sell their beef at a lower price, even after paying cost of transportation to the market. Very likely the beef imports are one reason, as Mr. Triplett says, for the drop in price of beef steers which he mentions.

'Big Brother' Bill

By TOM ANDERSON

The so-called "Civil Rights" bill means that Big Brother takes over your life. The "Civil Rights" bill cancels more individual freedoms granted by our "out-of-date" Constitution than any bill ever before passed by Congress. It is a giant step toward dictatorship, toward a nationalized police force, toward an all-powerful centralized federal government and away from state and local government.

Business will be required to go out and recruit Negroes or Protestants or Catholics, or Jews to end any "racial imbalance" or "religious imbalance" at any and every level, found by federal inspectors. Farmers who refuse to correct the racial "imbalance" of their work force will be excluded from every direct and indirect "federal benefit." It is not clear whether this means the right to use federal highways and to get rural free delivery of mail.

FEDERAL CONTROL

Public establishments are prohibited from "discrimination." Every business which offers goods or services to the public is involved.

Gold Supply in Red

By H. E. KERSHNER, L.H.D.

Our gold stock has been reduced from 23 billion 252 million dollars in January, 1953, to about 15.5 billion dollars at the present time. Meanwhile, a valid foreign claims against our gold have risen from 10.5 billion dollars in 1953 to more than 27 billion dollars at the present time. If all of these claims were presented at the same time, we would be short nearly 12 billion dollars even tho we used every penny of our gold. Some 12 billion dollars of our gold is legally required to back our own currency. If this be reserved, we would have only 3.5 billion gold against more than 27 billion dollars of foreign claims and could pay out at only about 12 cents on the dollar. In other words, in an international sense we would be bankrupt.

But if we cannot pay the foreign claims on our gold, the dollar will immediately cease to be the medium of world trade, the fiscal systems of some other countries would collapse, because a large part of their reserves are in dollars, our own markets would be gone, except for what little could be clumsily bartered, our factories would be largely idle, and unemployment would mount to gigantic proportions.

During the period 1945 to 1963, alone, we gave away well over 100 billion dollars — much of it to the sworn enemies of our country. It is this huge squandering of our wealth that has caused our present predicament. It has already reached crisis proportions and will grow steadily worse until it is stopped. Moreover, the above figure does not include substantial amounts of money sent abroad by a great variety of public and private relief organizations, including the Peace Corps.

Not in the darkest days of the Civil War did we have to humiliate ourselves as we are now doing to plead with foreign nations not to present their claims against us and to make short term loans from them to meet some of the more pressing obligations. In other words, the very nations which we have helped to the extent of over 100 billion dollars are now in position to throw us into bankruptcy by demanding that we pay them. No part of the 100 billion dollars which we have given them can be used as a credit against the more than 27 billion dollars which we now owe them. In fact, we owe them this money because they have used a portion of the funds we gave them to build up their claims against us.

And so, the mightiest nation ever developed in the history of the world has been brought low because we have adopted and are still following the communist-inspired policies for our destruction.

Senator Frank Lausche, Democrat of Ohio, is right in saying:

Constitution must not go unpunished. All who have had a part in trying to perpetuate this fraud upon our people should be denied all future paychecks. They should be impeached for ignoring or attempting to nullify clearly-stated promises of the Constitution.

ZANZIBAR

To the Editor:

In an article printed in the Congressional Record House, February 24, 64, re Zanzibar, Mrs. St. George asked and was given permission to address the House for one minute and to revise and extend her remarks:

"Mr. Speaker, with our usual alacrity, I noticed, we have recognized Zanzibar. I do not know whether it is a republic or a dictatorship. I imagine no one else knows."

"I would like to read something about Zanzibar, so that members of the House can get an idea as to how that country is run. This is quite interesting. Ex-Mau Mau John Okello, field marshal of the first stage of the communist coup, is a man who likes to keep his desk-top clear. Five minutes after former Education Minister Mushi surrendered to the new government on January 14, Okello announced he would be hanged forthwith along with assorted colleagues. 'I must do the job quickly,' he said, 'so that stability returns to the island.' Later the same day he strung up Former Finance Minister Juma Aley and Assistant Minister Othman (along with a thousand or two non-ministers). He then broadcast an order for another former minister, Salim, to report at once to the police for hanging. Otherwise, Okello promised, he would soak Salim in gasoline and put a match to him."

"Everything is going splendidly," revolutionary President Karume observed to the interviewer that afternoon. "The entire country is delighted with the revolution."

"I presume we consider this a country of great freedom-loving people," was Mrs. St. George's closing remark.

Mr. Editor, I would like to have you print this article, and any excuse you think our Congress could have for recognizing such a country. It seems to me that a protest should be sent to our rulers against such action.

FALLACY

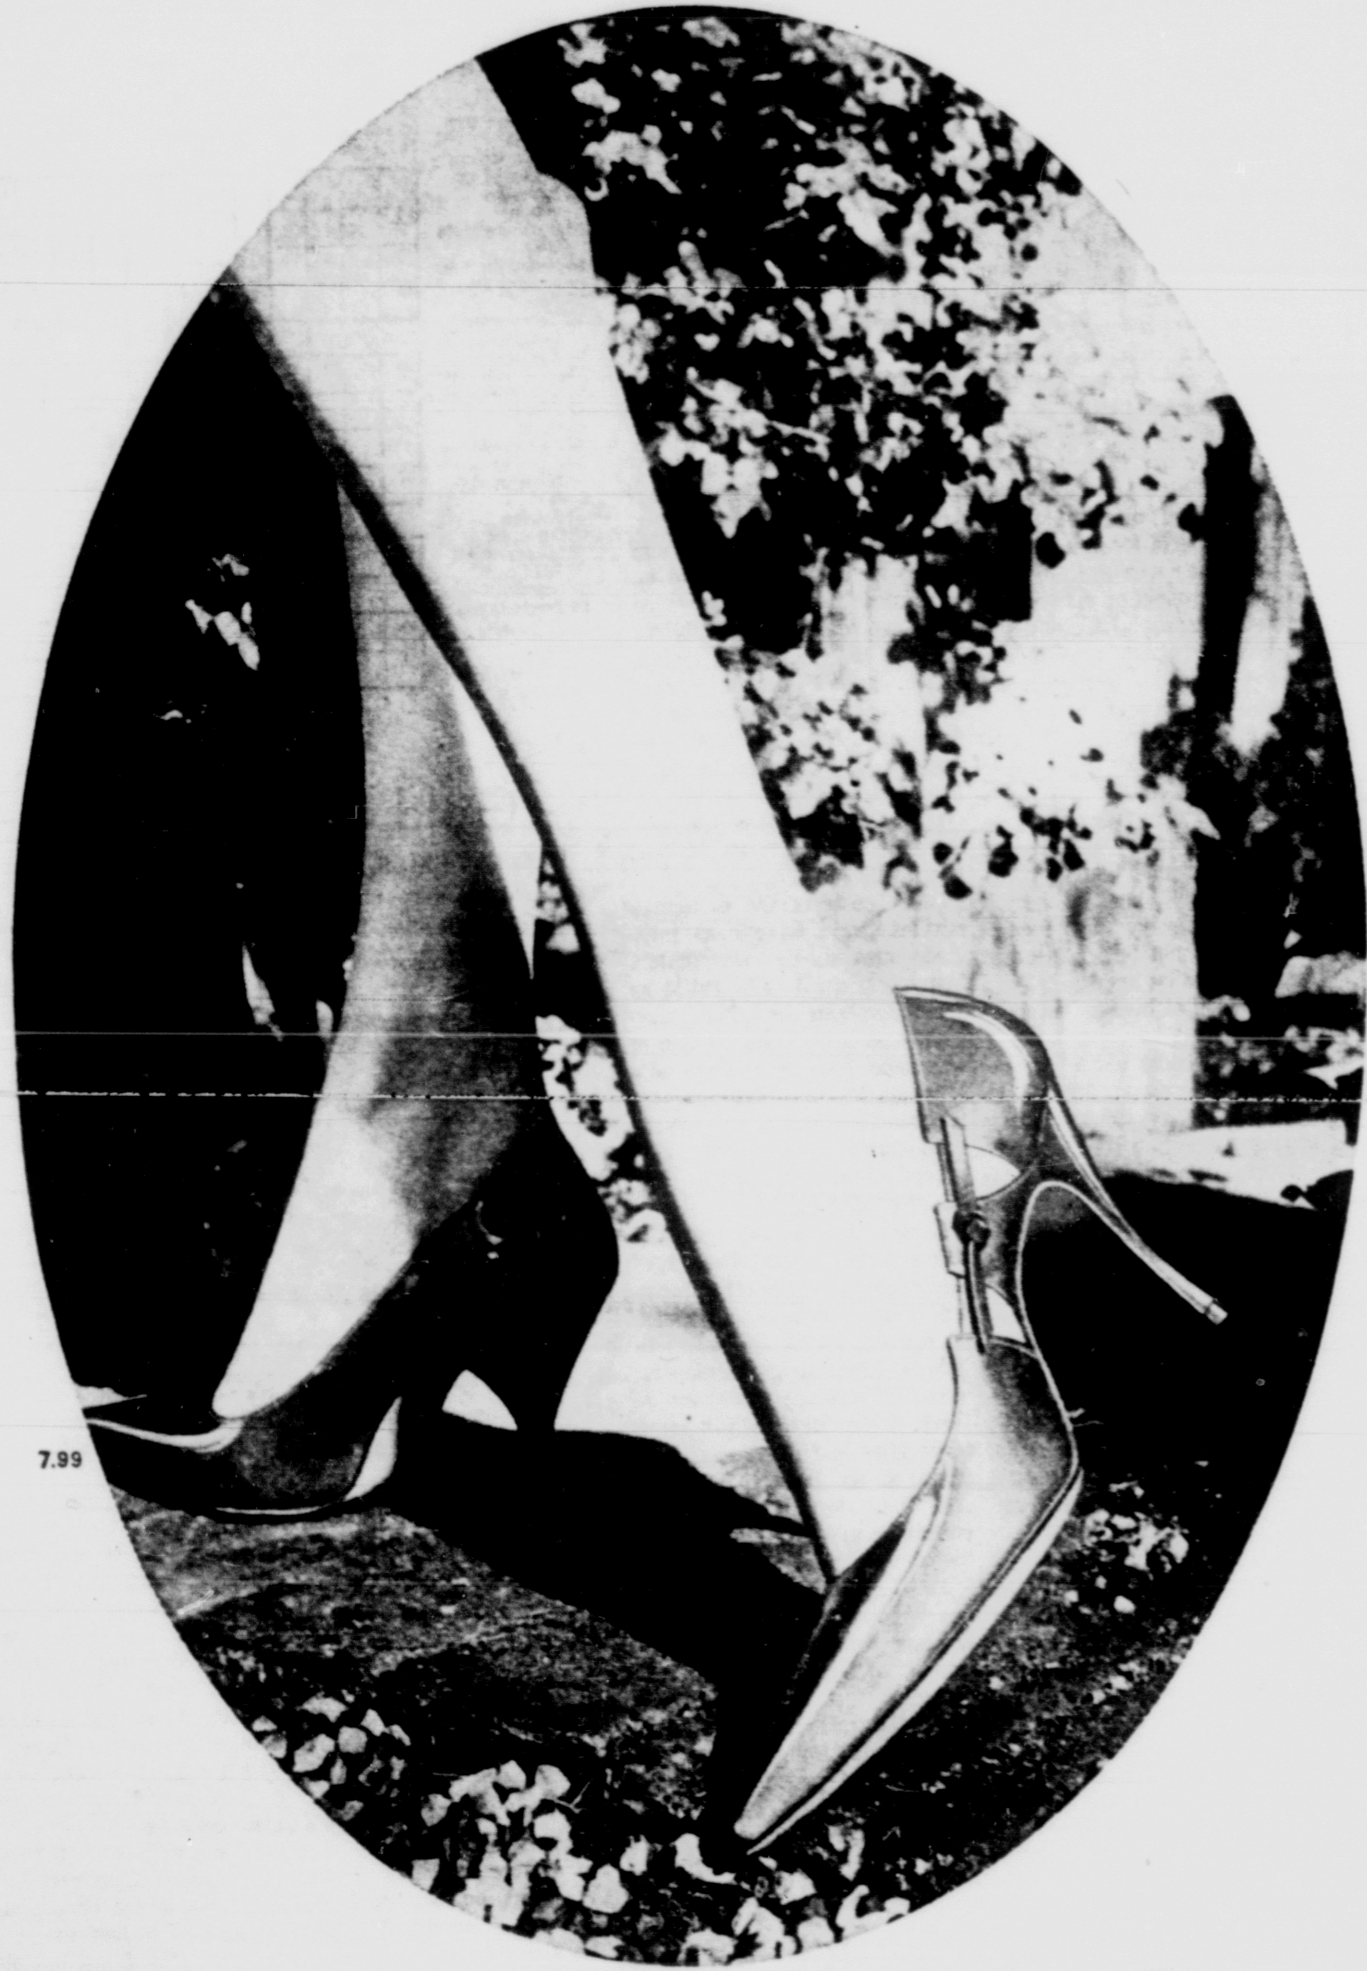

To the Editor:

It is not a known fact that George Washington threw a silver dollar across a river. He was a frugal man and kept accounts of his expenditures in pounds and shillings, altho a note is made in one of his biographies that in 15 years of age he was so adept at reading maps he was offered a job as a surveyor at a doubloon a day, which means the Spanish milled dollar had begun to reach the colonies from the Bermuda trade.

The myth of the dollar throwing is from Reverend Weems' biography of George Washington, written in 1830. It was historically incorrect and more fiction than fact.

Goldwater Tries Last Fling in New Hampshire

By JACK BELL

HUDSON, N.H. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater strove today to arouse new fervor among conservatives in a last campaign fling before next week's New Hampshire primary.

In a crowded, 12-hour schedule, the Arizona senator bore down heavily on the theme that the way to shortcut centralized government in Washington was to vote for him in the GOP presidential balloting.

His appeal was directed primarily at building a conservative turnout he believes may give him 35 per cent of the popular vote and half of the state's 14 convention delegates.

Goldwater told a Berlin rally Monday night, in obvious reference to New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, he doesn't believe that "votes can be bought by a smile or by kissing babies or by eating hot dogs."

"Elections mustn't be carnivals or circuses to entertain the voters," he said.

Putting this into practice, Goldwater avoided any extended handshaking tours though he did shake some hands in Berlin. He, his wife and his son Barry Jr., rode in an old-fashioned campaign parade from their hotel to the Berlin City Hall.

At a dinner for campaign workers, which preceded this, he said reports of "my death up here"—meaning his reported political decline—were premature.

He said it is not true that "Goldwater is slipping in New Hampshire." He added that he may be "a going goose, but I'm going in the right direction."

Goldwater emphasizes his belief that Republicans ought to choose a conservative to oppose President Johnson in the November presidential election instead of a GOP candidate who might be in the "me-too" classification.

"We want a choice," he said, "we don't want an echo."

Goldwater insisted that principles, not "grab bag promises and public relations razzle dazzle," should determine the outcome of the New Hampshire primary.

He has the principles, Goldwater declared. He said what he offers is "the choice of an American relying more on its individual citizens than on mastery by federal bureaucrats."

Goldwater said in a prepared text at Berlin, though he did not deliver it, that in the state governed by Rockefeller "racketeering is discovered in state agencies" and there is "violence in the streets, while officials either cannot or will not sell their houses in order."

He did not specifically name either Rockefeller or New York, but the targets of his remarks were obvious.

In discussing his prospects for the national nomination, Goldwater said he thinks he will get all the delegates from Illinois and hopes to get most of those in the forthcoming Nebraska primary.

He said he has been told he will pick up from 2 to 17 delegates in New York State and he added he understands he has one delegate in New Jersey where organization Republicans are expected to oppose him.

He listed himself as having the advantage in the June 2 California primary where he will be opposed by Rockefeller.

County Marriage Licenses Total 120 in February

The Recording Department of the County Clerk and Recorder's office sold 120 marriage licenses during the month of February, according to Jene Bailey, department supervisor.

That was 25 more licenses than were sold during the same period in 1963.

The department recorded 4,331 documents during the month, or 238 more than was recorded in February of last year.

Reception fees for the month amounted to $6,859.70, as compared to $6,190.30 in February a year ago, Mrs. Bailey said.

February Tests Show Water Okay in Springs

A total of 470 portions of Colorado Springs water was tested satisfactorily last month by technicians of the City-County Health Department.

Baker's Shoes to Have Grand Opening Thursday

Grand opening of Baker's Shoe Store, in the new Pikes Peak Building at the corner of Pikes Peak Avenue and Tejon Street, will be held Thursday at 9 a.m.

Baker's will feature Quality-Craft shoes for women.

Manager of the new store is William G. Burningham, a native of Salt Lake City, Utah, who came to Colorado Springs from Albuquerque, N. M.

Howard Brown, assistant vice president of Edison Brothers Stores, Inc., Salt Lake City, owner of the store, has been in Colorado Springs this week supervising the setting up of the operation.

Edison Brothers Stores have 497 stores in the United States, including Hawaii, which sell ladies fashion shoes. Of this number, 216 are in shopping centers and the balance are located in downtown areas. Brown said the downtown stores have the largest volume of sales.

At Thursday's opening, local businessmen have been invited to inspect the store. A ribbon cutting will be held at 9 a.m. with Chamber of Commerce officials and community representatives present.

Burningham, the manager, started with the company in Denver, working for the firm in that city for one year. He was promoted and sent to Salt Lake City, and a second promotion took him to Phoenix, Ariz. Later, he was promoted again and transferred to Albuquerque where he was assistant store manager before coming to Colorado Springs as manager.

Burningham is married and has three children. He and his wife and family live at 2627 Chestnut St.

Femininity is the key work in this season's footwear fashions, and Baker's collection includes many of the most popular — pumps, cutouts, straps, bare-back slings. These spring-timed silhouettes feature the newest heel shapings — high or less-high, slim or wide, setback or curved.

Colors run the gamut from soft, flowery pastels and pale new neutrals to sunshiny reds and blues and always-right blacks. Textures include patent leather, kidskin, crushed leathers, and smart reptile-grains. Unusual texture combinations include patent and matte calf, crushed leather and reptile-grained leather, patent and linen.

Many of the white fabric styles, in linen or peau de soie, can be tinted to match favorite spring costumes, a formal gown or a bridesmaid's dress. The tinting service is free of charge at Baker's.

Many new funtime styles in women's shoes include little higher-than-flat jet and candy cane heels, little girl straps, and cutout openings.

Building Permits Show Drop in Colorado Springs

Building permits in Colorado Springs dropped slightly in 1964 from the 1963 total but were up for the first two months of the year.

Perry C. Tyree, city superintendent of inspections, said that permits totaling $1,315,549 were issued last year as compared to $1,498,644 issued in 1963.

However, the total for the first two months of 1964 is $3,526,413 as compared with $2,879,804 for the first two months of 1963.

The fact that building has gotten off to such a flying start in 1964 may indicate a new construction record this year. The building total in 1963 was $23,751,816 and it was $24,455,795 in 1962, which is the all-time building record high for one year.

Included in the February permits were 83 for new homes, with a permit value of $1,053,890. For the first two months of this year, there have been 201 permits for new homes valued at $2,498,470. This compares with 146 new homes worth $1,833,702 for the first two months of 1963.

New construction for the first two months of 1964 has been worth $3,353,429, which compares with $2,656,969 for the same period in 1963.

February permits included 83 new residences, $1,053,890; eight private garages, $6,650; three apartment houses, $159,100; and 36 permits totaling $95,909 for alterations, additions, repairs and remodeling.

Value of all city building permits since Jan. 1, 1952, has been $192,717,860 and new construction $168,661,951. During that period, 8,074 permits valued at $108,964,47 have been constructed.

Armed Forces News

By STEVE TILLMAN

WASHINGTON — Special to Gazette Telegraph — Admiral U. S. G. Sharp, the commander of the U. S. Fleet Pacific, has been selected to succeed Admiral Harry D. Felt, as Cinc Pac when the latter retires in July.

Up to the final announcement, the selection was between Admiral Sharp and Vice Admiral Claude Ricketts. This was itemized here several columns ago.

Up to the last minute many Pentagon officials were hopeful that Secretary McNamara would give the command to the Air Force on a rotational basis. This may happen the next time around.

In past years, the Pentagon has proved very cooperative with movie makers even to the extent of furnishing troops and equipment for the making of a film. Recently the products turned out have not reflected creditably on the Armed Forces so this will now be discontinued. The big unanswered question is will the box office prove a greater attraction to the movie makers than any respect for the man in uniform, and the films be downgrading from here on out?

The Pentagon is expected to announce identity of 30 installations to be closed out in March. These are part of the 80 additional installations scheduled to be closed.

Changes among Army generals include Brig. General C. P. Brown to Fort Sill as assistant commandant of the Artillery and Missile School there, and Kenneth G. Wickham to Fort Lee, to take command of the Combat Development Commands on March 30.

The Air Force is to make no change in its program of retention of active duty Reserve officers for 20 years. Under this program, really operational only in the Army and Air Force, the Air Force "triffs" its 20-year active duty Reservists when they are eligible for retirement. The regular officers, if qualified, are expected to remain on active duty for between 28 and 30 years.

Military active duty personnel may have greater benefits from tax cut than civilians. Reason is that while the new law drops the rate of the tax, it also eliminates much of the heretofore tax exempted items such as local taxes. Few active duty people pay local sales taxes or have house repair items to deduct.

Retired military personnel may be due for a three per cent raise in retired pay in 1965.

The active duty strength of the Armed Forces as of January 31 was tentatively reported as being 2,684,712. This is broken down as Army, 962,188; Navy, 663,975; Marine Corps, 190,179; and Air Force, 868,370.

Army Chief of Staff General Earle Wheeler says there is no truth in rumor that the Army wants all of its divisions to be taken into the air assault concept. Planning calls for only two or three air assault elements. Notice the use of the word elements. Seems to indicate that final decision is yet to be made as to whether it will be Air Assault Division or Battlegroup.

A new House subcommittee under the leadership of Congressman Mendel Rivers of South Carolina, will consider a new policy on hospital construction for active duty and retired personnel and their dependents.

The Administration would like to eliminate the present cost-of-living allowances for Federal civilian employees in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

For example, these employees in Hawaii receive a 15 per cent tax free differential in pay. Under the pending proposal this would be phased out gradually over the next six years and then be replaced with extra pay all of which would be taxable.

Relief Is Demanded For Cyprus Sufferers

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—The head of British Red Cross operations in Cyprus said Tuesday 6,000 Greek Cypriots are in need of relief.

The report was made at a news conference by Sir Patrick Renison, who said 16,000 Turks are listed as refugees. The rest of the 40,000 needing relief are wage earners now out of work, welfare cases and dependents of men killed or wounded in the island's communal fighting.

The average cigaret tax in the United States is 12.9 cents per pack, as contrasted with an average of 43.5 cents per pack in England.

different locales. Supporters of the measure say that the average loss of such employees is $558 with many losing more than $1,000.

Maj. Gen. Joseph R. Holzapler of the Air Force moves to his third star with a new assignment as Director of the Weapons Systems Evaluation Group on the retirement of General Harvey T. Alness.

The Navy has ordered work stopped on conversion of the auxiliary aircraft transport Saipan to a command ship. The stop order is in line with Defense decision not to include a third command ship in the program.

U.S. Experts See De Gaulle Strain

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have about given up trying to analyze the motives of French President Charles de Gaulle and resigned themselves to a long period of strain and increasing tension in relations between Washington and Paris.

The latest French maneuver in demanding Red Chinese admission to the U.N. World Health Organization is but one of a series which has already created a bad split in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and which may be followed by other moves as yet unforeseen here.

The Washington policy for dealing with this situation seems to be essentially a policy of containment aimed at trying to prevent the split in the alliance from becoming worse.

It is also aimed at trying to blot the thrust of De Gaulle's diplomacy insofar as it may affect the policies and attitudes of other countries in issues like the recognition of the Communist regime in China.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS
WASHINGTON — President Johnson's choice of Miami Beach for his first partisan political speech since he took office accents the campaign strategy he has in mind for the November election.

It is based primarily on a sweep of the conservative South and the winning of enough key big electoral vote states in the North to produce victory. This may seem questionable strategy, for it requires an appeal to both conservative and liberal voters at the same time, but Johnson so far has displayed a masterful ability to straddle. Proof of this is in Republican frustrations in making him a clear ideological target.

Florida is of course no longer a typically Southern state, because of the migration to it of so many Northern Republicans. But it used to be part of the once "solid" Democratic South and it is the President's intention to bring it back into the fold.

Even Republicans concede he is most likely to do this. The state now has the largest bloc of electoral votes (14) in the South except for Texas with its 25.

Florida, however, has not cast its vote for a Democratic President since 1948, when Truman carried it by 87,000 votes. Ike carried it by 98,000 in 1952 and by 163,000 in 1956. Nixon in 1960 won the state by 46,000.

But where Kennedy failed in 1960, Johnson could well have won had he headed the ticket. The state's delegation to the 1960 Democratic convention favored Johnson for the Presidential nomination. The basic reasons are important for they figure in party hopes this year. They were that Johnson was a Southerner, a Protestant and considered a conservative Democrat.

FLORIDA IS COUNTED CLOSE TO SAFE

At the level of the Democratic National Committee Florida is being counted close to safe at this point. Soundings thru Dixie so far have indicated that only Mississippi and possibly Alabama could break away from the Johnson column.

Significantly Virginia, which has gone Republican in every Presidential election since 1943, has shown tangible signs of moving toward Johnson. Gov. Albertis Harrison predicted this week that Johnson would win Virginia over either Gov. Rockefeller or Sen. Barry Goldwater if the election were held today. There is no real puzzle to be solved in Johnson's strength in party organization ranks in the South, also there would appear to be because of his strong stand for sweeping civil rights legislation.

Nor is it likely — and this is a case for Republican despair over Southern gains — that he will be hurt in Dixie by the upcoming Senate filibuster battle over the rights issue.

As Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) who will lead the Senate fight for the legislation has confined to friends, even the most die-hard leaders of the Dixie anti-bloc recognize the President's political need of getting a strong law.

In the end, they are expected to yield in order to help "native son" Johnson get elected to a four-year term.

BUT HE STILL NEEDS A BIG CIVIL RIGHTS SCORE

They know that he cannot be a winner in November by carrying only the South. They accept the fact that to win the Northern electoral votes he needs he must be able to point with pride to his civil rights achievement.

In brief, they want a Southerner with Johnson's "let us reason together" proclivity in the White House and if the only way he can achieve that is by a sacrifice on the civil rights issue, then so be it.

This Johnson effort to win the conservative South, as a foundation for victory nationally as a "liberal" and strong civil rights advocate is actually in the Democratic Party's traditional formula for victory.

Woodrow Wilson, a New Jersey liberal, used it effectively. So did FDR. The South only lost its inherent "solid" party character after 1944 when the civil rights issue began to blow hot.

The same issue is of course hotter than ever in Dixie, but odd as it may seem, Johnson is not being burned by it, altho John F. Kennedy, had he lived would definitely have been.

The break that Johnson gets is in part due to the fact that key Southern Senators including Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) are convinced the civil rights drive cannot be suppressed. They would fight to the end if Kennedy, a "Damyankee" were alive, but with "Cousin Lyndon" in the White House, what time could be more propitious to yield after a few grand filibuster flourishes?

A TRICKY BALANCING ACT

Present estimates of Johnson's chances to carry the South obviously may go haywire in the next few months for there is no argument that he is doing a very tricky balancing act. And it is highly possible that even if the election were held today he could not carry Mississippi or Alabama where segregation sentiment is most powerful. On the other hand neither state is likely to vote Republican, unless the GOP nominee is Goldwater.

Johnson's selection of Florida to open his politicking recalls Kennedy's political excursion to Miami Beach just two years ago March 10. Kennedy also spoke at a party fund raising dinner and at the same hotel — the Fontainebleau.

But the late President chose Florida for opening his campaign in behalf of party candidates in the 1962 Congressional elections as a gesture of support for his old friend Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla.) who was up for reelection.

Anyone who thinks Johnson is now being inconsistent for expediency's sake should be reminded of the nice words of praise JFK had at Miami Beach in 1962 for Smathers. He called the Senator one of his "most valued counselors" etc. etc. Smathers' voting record at the time in support of Kennedy's legislative program was 49 per cent for, 51 per cent against.

Panama Canal Operates With Smooth Routine

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
PANAMA (AP) — Along the Panama Canal's 40 miles of waterway, the angry political events of the past two months seem strangely remote.

Despite the heated debate between Panama and the United States, the canal continues to operate with the same smooth efficiency that has been its hallmark since the first ship passed through in 1914.

Ships come and go at a rate of about 30 a day, just as they did before the current crisis. The lifeline of commerce remains open, offering a short cut of nearly 8,000 miles between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

Even Soviet ships ply across the isthmus, although the Russians have denounced the U.S. role in Panama.

A typical eight-hour crossing amid the peaceful green-carpeted hills along the canal route can seem deceptively simple. Actually, operation of the "big ditch" requires the varied skills of more than 14,000 persons.

The 2,825-ton Norwegian freighter Balears made such a transit the other day—from the Pacific to the Atlantic side—hauling a cargo of bananas from Guayaquil, Ecuador, to Gulfport, Miss.

During most of the trip, the Balears' master, Capt. Jan Anddal, 33, kept to his cabin. His vessel was guided through the waterway by a skilled canal pilot, Paul Guerrero, 32, a pleasant, round-faced seaman from Ridgewood, N.J.

the Balears, which makes the trip every two weeks, was one of 29 cargo vessels that passed through the canal that day. They carried crude oil, barley, cement, wheat, flour, beer, whisky and even dried blood—a fertilizer.

Guerrero is one of 120 canal pilots. They are on 24-hour call except on their days off. With 3½ years experience, Guerrero earns base pay of $13,000 a year. His income will go up to $19,600 in another four years when he reaches senior pilot status.

On the day of the Balears' crossing, Guerrero's work began at 5:30 a.m. A car picked him up at home for the short ride to the Balboa anchorage and a launch took him to the Balears in midchannel.

Aboard the ship he sat on a high stool on the bridge softly calling orders to the helmsman.

Vacation Picture Tips Given at Slide Club Meet

Tips on how to take better vacation pictures were given last Friday by Oscar Steinhorst who spoke to members of the Color Slide Club. Steinhorst used source material from the Kodak and Ansco Companies.

The subject for the monthly competition was "Simplicity."

First place was a tie between Bud Behm with "Rugged Cross" and Kitty Brookshire for "Enter."

Second place was also a tie between Maridel Green with "Date With a Nut" and Elmer Tesker for "On a Diet."

Steinhorst, for "Corny," and Behm's "Nest Patterns" tied for third place awards.

Honorable mentions went to Tesker's "Pioneer Cross" and "Simple As," and to Irma Tesker for "Two Times."

Guests at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Pointer and Paul Nesbit.

The March competition will be in open class slides. Meetings are held the fourth Friday night of each month in the West Side Library. Visitors and prospective members are invited.

Slides are judged on portrayal of subject, color rendition and composition, technical quality and impact.

How to Keep Well
By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the best of my knowledge, the prevention of disease will be achieved. Personal hygiene is the key to good health. It is not enough to eat well and exercise. One must also keep his body clean and his mind clear. This is the only way to stay healthy and happy.

If U.S. Bomber Loses Tail Fin, It Can Land, Too

WASHINGTON (AP)—A jet bomber landed safely even though it lost most of its 40-foot tail fin 14,000 feet in the air. The Defense Department released pictures of the aircraft Monday but did not report what had been demonstrated in a Jan. 10 incident.

An Air Force official said the B52 apparently encountered severe wind turbulence on a test mission involving aircraft loads.

He said that when the damage to the vertical stabilizer occurred the crew's first reaction apparently was to bail out, but the pilot found he could still retain control.

After circling for some time to consume fuel, he brought the plane down at Blytheville Air Force Base in Arkansas.

The plane was on loan from the Air Force to the Boeing Co. for the tests.

The four aboard, all civilian

Cigaret Smokers Cut Puffing In Half

Cigaret smokers in Colorado Springs cut their puffing in half during February, according to the amount of revenue the city received from its cigarette tax last month.

James O'Leary, deputy city treasurer, said that gross revenue for February totaled $5,347 as compared with $10,712 for the same month last year.

However the city official said it was still too early to tell if there has been a substantial decrease in the sale of cigarettes since the government's report on the connection between smoking cigarettes and lung cancer.

O'Leary said that gross revenue for the first two months of the year was up over last year's figures. He said the city received a total of $24,180 in January and February as compared to $20,810 last year. An unusual early rush for tax stamps in January is the reason for the increase.

Carson Units Win General's Safety Award

Ft. Carson's 5th Military Police Company and the Post Quartermaster Unit won the coveted Commanding General's Trophy Award for Safety for the Second Quarter, Fiscal Year 1964.

The 5th MP's won the award for the divisional unit with an outstanding safety program. Post Quartermaster won a like trophy for staff and support units.

Both recipients maintained a record far below the expectancy rate set by higher headquarters. They received high scores in a survey conducted by the Administration Safety Division.

The survey embraces the units overall safety program to include an inspection of orderly room, supply section, barracks, motor parks, mess hall and outside unit area for fire and safety hazards.

The first requirement to fall in the zone of consideration is the most important one — to have an accident frequency rate equal to or below the expected accident frequency rates as set by higher headquarters.

These frequency rates cover four different areas: Army motor vehicle accidents, military injury, civil service injury, and aircraft accident — attributable to an in-flight incident. Only those areas that pertain to the unit are considered.

Eighteen other units considered for the award received a Certificate of Merit for Safety.

New Pikes Peak Building Completed; Opens Thursday

Grand opening of the new Pikes Peak Building, located at the intersection of Pikes Peak Avenue and Tejon Street, will be held Thursday along with the opening of Baker's Shoe Store.

Base Poured For Bear Creek Water Reservoir

The foundation for the $66,000 covered water storage reservoir in Bear Creek Canon has been poured and steel work is expected to begin soon.

The two million gallon tank is being erected by the General American Transportation Corp.

The new five million gallon storage reservoir on the Mesa near the police radio tower is virtually completed, awaiting only to be painted inside and out before going into service. This replaces an open reservoir constructed in 1888.

The tank on the Little Mesa was installed by the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company on a $138,735 contract.

The constant installation of covered reservoirs is planned on a yearly basis in order to provide adequate storage for filtered water as the demand increases.

In 1965, officials said, plans call for another five million gallon tank in Austin Bluffs, bringing storage in that area to 20 million gallons, and the overall city total to more than twice that amount.

Story Places Deputy in Wrong Accident Car

A report of a traffic accident in Monday's Gazette Telegraph erroneously said Deputy Sheriff Bernard Barry was a passenger in a car driven by a man given a ticket for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Barry was driving with Deputy Sheriff Eldon McCune whose car was hit.

McCune was going east on E. Platte Avenue and had stopped in the right lane, police said. Lawrence Ronald Sims, 25, of Ft. Carson was traveling west and hit the rear of McCune's vehicle.

Barry got a bump on the head and Sims got a ticket for driving while under the influence, reckless driving, having no operator's license and carrying expired license plates.

building is occupied by Baker's Shoe Store and Patsy's Candies. Grand opening of the building and of the shoe store are scheduled for Thursday morning. Completed at a cost of $500,000, the Pikes Peak Building stands on the site formerly occupied by the Busy Corner building.

Denver Man Defends Self In City Court

A Denver man Roger Tabor, 25, successfully defended himself Tuesday in Municipal Court on charges of careless driving and injury to city property.

Base Poured For Bear Creek Water Reservoir

Owner of the building is Hendrie Investment Co. property manager is Baker Realty Co., 511 N. Tejon St.

The Pikes Peak Building extends 80 feet from Pikes Peak Avenue north on Tejon Street, and has 50 feet of frontage on Pikes Peak Avenue. It consists of a full basement and six full floors constructed on a framework of reinforced concrete including all floor slabs. Exterior walls feature strip windows with gray plate glass. At intervals, an opaque glass material covers the framework on the interior of the building. Walls are of concrete block and brick.

Interior walls are alternately exposed concrete blocks and plaster. The upper floors are completed except for partitioning and suspended ceilings and other refinements which will be installed to meet with the requirements as agreed upon between the tenants and the owner.

About one-fifth of the sixth floor is utilized for mechanical equipment, including a boiler and compressors that are necessary for heating and cooling a portion of the building. Other similar equipment is located in the basement of the building.

The building is air conditioned throughout and has automatic elevators.

W. Lee Baker of Baker Realty Co., said that except for about 1,000 square feet on the sixth floor, all space in the building has been leased, or is involved in leasing negotiations.

One concern, which Baker declined to name, is in the process of negotiating a lease for three floors of the building.

Patsy's Popcorn, which for years occupied a location in the old Busy Corner building, which the Pikes Peak Building replaces, will be located in almost the same identical space it occupied before the Busy Corner building was torn down in 1961. The old building was used as a drug store from the late 1870's and was a downtown landmark.

Baker said the upper floors of the building will be available for occupation by tenants between April 15 and May 1.

Two Boys Injured In Car-Scooter Mishap

Two boys were injured when their motor scooter collided with a car in front of Harrison High School Tuesday morning, the State Patrol reported.

Robert C. Cates, 12, of 2014 S. Corona St., suffered abrasions and bruises. He was a passenger on the scooter driven by Clovis Cates, 15, of the same address. Robert Cates was taken to the Ft. Carson Hospital for treatment.

Clovis Cates, who suffered bruises, was released at the scene. The driver of the car was Elizabeth M. Watson, 36, of 2120 S. Corona St. State Patrolman Nathan Boals investigated the accident.

Reds Boast Secret Weapon: One Drink and Lights Out!

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is a series of articles written by a Santa Ana, Calif., businessman which are being reprinted in the Gazette Telegraph. The author spent three months in Moscow on an assignment.)

By C. D. BANTRESSER

MOSCOW — The three most popular drinks here are vodka, wine and cognac. The vodka is all 80 proof which means that it is 40 percent alcohol. Vodka sells for roughly $4 a fifth.

The Russians always drink their vodka straight followed by a soda water chaser. As far as potency is concerned, I would rank it with a very, very dry martini.

Wine is fairly inexpensive ranging from $1 to $2 a bottle. There is wine as we know it, but also there is a thing called strong wine which is roughly 40 proof to 20 percent alcohol.

A bootmaker here is a shot of vodka followed by a glass of strong wine. I wholeheartedly recommend it for those who are in a hurry.

Cognac is fairly expensive costing about $7 a fifth. A Brandy snifter is unknown in this country and Cognac, like vodka, is intended to be drunk straight with a "minimum" water chaser.

It is a matter of American folklore to talk about the Russian's capacity for alcoholic beverages. I have had the personal occasion of drinking with them and I can testify to their ability to drink it.

I can also testify to their inability to hold it.

There is one mixed drink sold in all of the restaurants, usually from a cart which is pushed through the halls by a woman who is a combination cigarette girl and cocktail seller. This drink has no particular name it is simply called "The Cocktail." It consists of some Cognac with a lot of vodka and Champagne.

Into this mixture someone puts a couple of cherries and you drink it through a straw. A ten ounce glass costs $1.20. It is pretty deadly stuff.

I have tried one and find it far too sweet for my Scotch-Gin appetite. As sort of a side note to this particular drink, it is served in what you and I would consider an ordinary water glass.

Don't ever get clumsy and drop the glass because the going price on cocktail glasses in Moscow is $1 each. As a point of personal privilege I am going to make it a point when I get back to go to my favorite bar and grill to order a very dry Martini and then very casually drop the glass just to remind myself of some of the luxuries we enjoy that we do not appreciate.

In a couple of days I will mark the anniversary of my second month in Moscow. Sixty Days doesn't take long to write and it is even more easily said. But sixty days in Moscow is more like six months.

I have written a great many words about Moscow's people, customs, etc. I have written it pretty well as it happened and as I saw it at the time it happened.

It is only logical that viewpoints, ideas and observations will alter with the amount of time spent in any one place. I am certainly no exception to this theorem.

Inasmuch as everything I have reported has been sent in on magnetic tape, I have no record of my exact observations. Since I do not possess the attribute of total recall it is not even possible for me to remember each and every thing that I have talked about.

So, at this time, let's take a look at Moscow as it appears to me at the end of my second month.

The most important thing to me is that I no longer feel like a stranger. So many things which to me at first seemed to be insurmountable obstacles or which were completely foreign to my experience are now everyday occurrences and evoke no particular response.

I am well acquainted with the geography of the city. My Russian vocabulary is now large enough for me to acquire all of the necessities without an interpreter. I have had the opportunity to talk to a great many Russians not only through an interpreter but also in English.

Many of the things that I wondered about before I came are now decided as I had very strong convictions that the average American would necessarily have a distorted picture of the city.

For example, I was convinced by the people who were here before me, as well as the people who were here when I arrived, that all mail, cablegrams or magnetic tapes leaving or entering Russia were thoroughly reviewed by censors (secret police). I am now equally convinced that this is untrue.

I have sent and received quite a few letters. I have sent twenty to twenty five magnetic tapes. As a matter of business cablegrams are being sent or received at an average of three or four times a week.

There is nothing at all in my experience to support the theory that mail is reviewed or censored. I know as a matter of fact that the magnetic tapes are going thru as dictated.

Mail, by the way, from Moscow to Los Angeles, Calif., takes ten to twelve days (via Air Mail). The magnetic tapes take a little longer since I am sending them by registered mail. Cablegrams require two days and to complete the picture, a phone call requires about six hours prior notice.

In the two months here, there have been no restrictions placed upon me insofar as touring the city, taking pictures, or talking with people is concerned. I honestly do not believe that at any time was I followed or that my activities outside of the business day have been a subject of investigation.

With the exception of a few casual drinks, I have found no particular animosity towards me because I am an American. I believe that these particular individuals were not antagonistic because I was an American but rather because they were overly aggressive as a result of the ever prevalent stimulus of vodka.

After two months here I am no longer sensitive when I ask people, "Are you a Communist?"

It is ironic that in our country this question would certainly result in an angry response. Here when you ask a person if he is a communist, it is a perfectly logical question. No one objects to it and if the answer is yes it is said with a certain amount of pride.

From what I had read in the United States I believed that only a very small percentage of the people in Russia were members of the Communist party.

In my own particular Gallup type poll I would say that this is untrue, that a very high percentage, perhaps as high as 75 percent, of the people belong to the Communist party. If you were to distill this group down to those who were able to attend a University or Institute the amount might run as high as 98 percent.

I find that the people are more than willing to talk about their country and its politics. They have the same national pride as we Americans have.

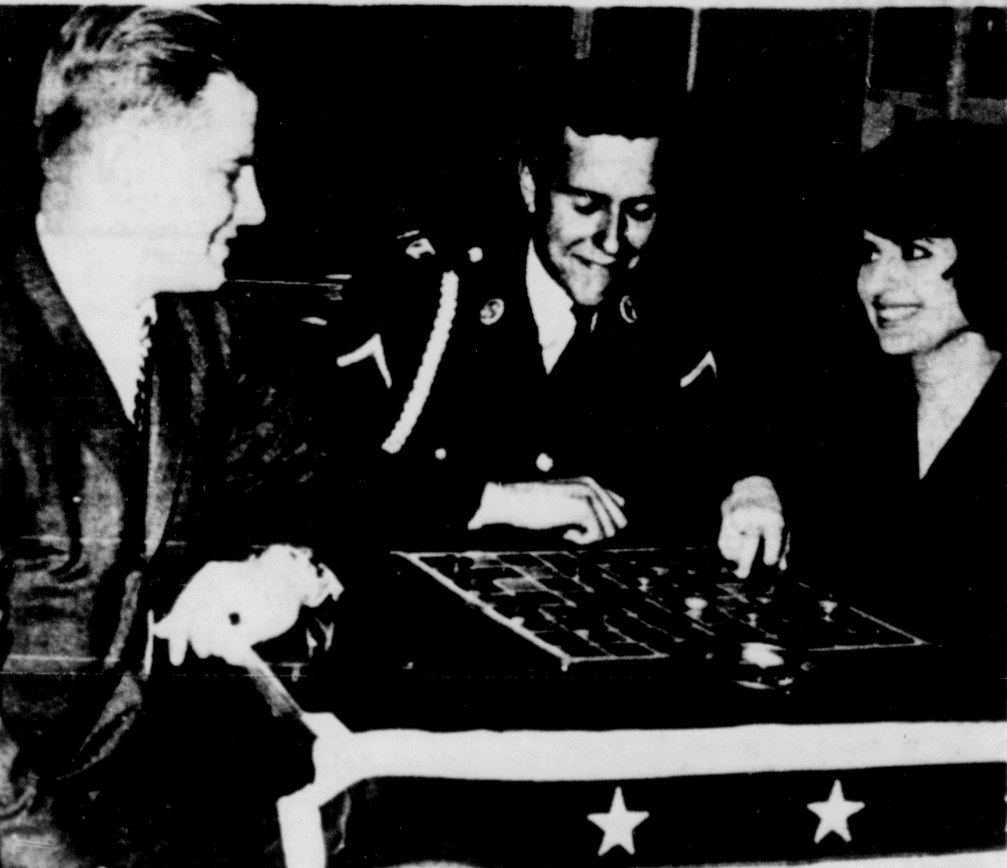

They are also willing to admit, to some degree, that there is a weakness. You can sense, though, that when they are talking to Americans, each one looks upon themselves as a representative of the Chamber of Commerce and therefore feels the inborn necessity to rationalize or to justify the obvious weaknesses in their system.

VISITING UF AGENCY—N. A. (Buz) Rieger, new chairman of the biggest United Fund division, Business and Industry, watches a checker game at the USO. Playing are 20 year old Pfc. Edward Kelly of Scranton, Penn., stationed at Fort Carson and Junior Hostess, Josephine Guzman, daughter of T. Sgt. and Mrs. Roger Guzman. The USO is one of 33 agencies supported by the United Fund. This year Rieger stepped up to the chairmanship in which more than half the United Fund proceeds are raised. He has served successfully as chairman of various sub-committees in the Business and Industry Division previously.

N. A. Rieger Heads UF Business, Industry Unit

The biggest division in the structure of the Pikes Peak United Fund, Business and Industry, will be headed this Fall by N. A. (Buz) Rieger, loan officer of the Exchange National Bank.

Rieger has successfully chaired sub-committees of this division in each of the preceding United Fund drives. The Business and Industry division is responsible for the solicitation of corporate, executive and employee gifts in all firms employing more than 25 persons. More than one-half the proceeds of the campaign each year comes from this source.

William Pfeiffer of Harris Upham and Co., general chairman of the United Fund, said, "Buz Rieger has been instrumental in raising the number of plants having payroll deduction methods available. This means serves the employees who wish to make small contributions each payday to the United Fund instead of one gift once a year. If it weren't for this method of employee support the United Fund would have an impossible task."

In addition to having experience in campaigning Rieger has been actively involved in the work of two agencies of the United Fund. He is a committee member of the Wagon Wheel Council of the Girl Scouts, and is a member of the State Board of Directors of the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Colorado.

He headed the independent fund drive for multiple sclerosis in 1958, before the Colorado Multiple Sclerosis Society withdrew from its national affiliate, and became a member of United Funds throughout the state.

A graduate of the Wharton School of Finance of the University of Pennsylvania, Rieger earned his M. A. degree in business administration at the Harvard Graduate Business School. A Lt. Commander in the Naval Reserve, he served on an ammunition ship during the Korean war.

He has worked in every department of the Exchange National Bank since he joined the staff in 1956. Several evenings each week he also teaches college credit courses for the extension program of the University of Colorado and the Southern Colorado State College.

Rieger, his wife, Susan and two daughters, Holly, 6 and Ann, 2, live at 1621 Howard.

The need to expand Colorado outdoor recreation facilities will be the theme of National Wildlife Week, March 15-21. Herb Hockstrasser, state Wildlife Week chairman, will direct the 1964 observance which joins the National Wildlife Federation in sponsoring the annual conservation education project.

Hockstrasser pointed out that nine out of 10 Americans now take part in some form of outdoor recreation, spending more than $20-billion each year in pursuit of this important means of relaxation.

Art Henderson, chairman of the Jimmy Camp Club, urged interested individuals and organizations to cooperate through the club in effort to encourage everyone to learn what they can do to provide the future.

"The out-of-doors is part of our American tradition. The challenge is to make sure that the outdoor heritage will be available to all," Hockstrasser said.

Aggies' League Crown Is First in 41 Years

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

They still had the center jump after each basket in college basketball when Texas A&M last won the undisputed championship of the Southwest Conference.

The Aggies sewed up the SWC title for the first time in 41 years with a 70-66 double overtime victory over Texas Christian Tuesday night and earned an automatic bid to the NCAA tournament for the national college championship.

It was a fitting climax to Shelby Metcalf's first year as Aggie head coach and he hopes for an easier time against Texas Western next Monday at Dallas in the NCAA competition.

The Aggies' victory overshadowed little Rider College's upset 66-63 triumph over the unpredictable NYU Violets and San Francisco's 60-47 defeat of Santa Clara for the Dons' 16th straight success.

In games involving teams in The Associated Press Top Ten Villanova, No. 7, walloped Seton Hall 109-73 and Chicago Loyola, No. 9 trampled Ohio University 103-87.

Texas Tech beat Rice 77-70 to take second place in the SWC while Providence beat Utah State 85-75. Georgia defeated Florida State 85-70 and Missouri whipped Iowa State 74-60 in other games.

Six free throws in the second overtime gave the Texas Aggies their victory over TCU at Fort Worth. The regulation game ended 62-62 and neither team scored in the first extra period.

The NCAA tournament picture now is as follows:

Eastern regionals at Philadelphia Monday: Temple vs. Connecticut or Rhode Island; Villanova vs. Providence; Virginia Military vs. Princeton; Penn or Yale. Duke drew first round bye.

Midwest regional at Evanston, Ill. Tuesday: Louisville vs. Ohio U or Miami of Ohio; Chicago Loyola vs. Murray, Ky. Kentucky ky and Michigan or Ohio State drew first round byes.

Midwest Regional at Dallas Monday: Oklahoma City vs. Creighton; Texas Western vs. Texas A&M; Kansas State and Wichita or Drake drew first round byes.

Far West regional at Eugene, Ore. Tuesday: Utah State vs. Arizona State or New Mexico; Oregon State vs. Seattle; UCLA and San Francisco drew first round byes.

Davidson's request to compete in the NIT at New York, starting March 12, was turned down by the Southern Conference, leaving four berths open in the 12-team field. Already entered are DePaul, Pitt, NYU, Duquesne, St. Bonaventure, Miami, Fla. Army and St. Joseph's, Pa.

Invaders Top Canadians in WHL Play

Western Hockey League
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Vancouver Canucks have been virtually eliminated from the Western Hockey League playoffs and the next to go could be the defending champion San Francisco Seals.

Denver's Invaders, who have clinched the regular season crown, tagged the Canucks with their 35th loss when they edged the Canadians 2-1 Tuesday night. The Canucks, who have been in the cellar nearly all season, must win eight of their nine remaining games to make the playoffs.

In the only other game Tuesday, Portland downed San Francisco 5-3 to solidify its hold on second place and leave the Seals two points out of fourth—the last playoff spot.

Larry Keenan applied the clincher for Denver when he scored at 7:46 of the third period. Buddy Boone had opened the action with Vancouver's lone goal midway through the second period. It was a freak shot taken with Boone off balance and the stick behind his back.

Rudy Migay tied the score 16 seconds later to set the stage for Keenan's winning tally.

Art Jones' 35th goal of the season started Portland's Buckaroos on the road to victory. The Seals led 2-1 at the end of the first period and quickly stretched that to 4-1 in the second when the Seals' Larry McNabb was penalized for spearing.

Seattle will be risking its third-place ranking when it meets Los Angeles at Long Beach in tonight's only game. Only one point separates the two.

Robinson Keeps Slim Margin In Point Race

DENVER (AP) — Wyoming's Flynn Robinson and Arizona State's Joe Caldwell are in a glove-tight race for basketball scoring honors in the Western Athletic Conference.

In eight games Robinson has pumped in 197 points for a 24.6 average against Caldwell's 23.1 average with 208 points in nine games.

Their race likely won't be settled until the final games this week.

John Fairchild of Brigham Young, with two games to go, is No. 3 with 22.1-point average. Following him are Art Becker of Arizona State at 19.7 and Albert Johnson of Arizona with 17.6.

The best marksman among players who have taken 100 or more shots is Becker with 77-of-140 for .550 percentage. The free throw leader, based on more than 50 tries, is Robinson with .894 on 59-of-66.

Ring Magazine Names Clay Fighter of Month

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Ring magazine today named Cassius Clay "fighter of the month" for his heavyweight title victory last week over Sonny Liston at Miami Beach.

Liston was placed in the top contender's spot followed by Doug Jones of New York, Ernest Terrell of Chicago, Zora Colley of Chandler, Ariz., and Eddie Machen, in that order.

Robertson Spearheads Cincy Win

NEW YORK (AP)—He has the face of a pixie and the approach of a pirate. And he just happens to be the most proficient pro the National Basketball Association has ever known.

"He's something like a good insurance policy," Cincinnati Coach Jack McMahon said today about backcourt star Oscar Robertson.

"It's like this," McMahon explained. "In this game, mistakes are bound to happen. But almost every time we make a mistake, Oscar comes up with the ball."

"And when he's got the ball, how much trouble can you be in?"

Robertson contributed 33 points, a dozen assists and was the team's second best rebounder Tuesday night when the Royals fought off New York 117-108 in Madison Square Garden, staying within 2½ games of perennial champion and current front-runner Boston.

Cardinals Keeping Eye On Washburn's Progress

By GARY KALE
UPI Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals have just what the doctor ordered, for a spring training diagnosis leading to a healthy season — consultants Branch Rickey and Stan Musial.

Rickey, former general manager of the Cardinals who set up one of the first fruitful farm camp systems in the majors, predicts St. Louis will win the National League pennant providing pitcher Ray Washburn has recovered completely from last season's arm injury.

Musial, the nation's new director of physical fitness, is a special instructor in camp. The greatest slugger in Cardinal history retired at the end of 1963 and left a trail of records that may take years to match.

Manager Johnny Keane broke the workout routine with a two-hour batting practice session Tuesday, but kept an eye on Washburn's throwing. Washburn won his first five starts last season and then suffered a periosteal tear of the triceps muscle.

Chicago White Sox third baseman Pete Ward was hospitalized when he suffered a back injury during infield practice. Dr. Anthony Guzauskas, the club physician, described the injury as "an acute strain," a misery that Ward also contracted last September.

Ward, in considerable pain, may be placed in traction and his length of absence could not be estimated.

Second baseman Nate Oliver became the Los Angeles Dodgers' first camp casualty.

Baltimore righthander Chuck Estrada appears in good shape after elbow surgery performed last September and pitched to Orioles batters for 10 minutes. Southpaw ace Steve Barber, however, limped off the field with a hamstring muscle pull in his left leg.

Elsewhere on the Grapefruit circuit:

New York Yankee Manager Yogi Berra announced his team will play no intra-squad games prior to the official opening of the exhibition season against the Baltimore Orioles on Saturday, March 14.

The Minnesota Twins begin full scale workouts today, but preview slugging was exhibited Tuesday by Harmon Killebrew and Bernie Allen, as part of a three-hour workout.

Pittsburgh announced a Saturday date for the first intrasquad game. Rookie right-hander Dick Selma replaced Alvin Jackson for the New York Mets' three-day jaunt to Mexico when the little lefthander's finger that was broken last week swelled up again. . . . Walt Bond, Houston's 6 foot 6, 220-pound outfielder, walloped three pitches over the fence in a slugging session. . . . Tom Brown again decided to turn down a Green Bay Packer pro football offer to take another shot at the Washington Senators' first base post. . . . Pitcher Dallas Green signed his contract, leaving outfielders Johnny Callison and Tony Gonzalez as Philadelphia Phillie hold-outs.

Looking At Hollywood

By HEDDA HOPPER
© 1964, By the Chicago Tribune

HOLLYWOOD—Natalie Wood and Arthur Loew Jr. are very secretive about their wedding plans, but I hear they'll have the ceremony aboard a private yacht. After the reception and the guests leave, bride and groom will sail away for a honeymoon in Acapulco. Natalie will inherit a ready-made family of two: One is the child of Debbie and Ty Power whom Loew adopted; the other is his child by Debbie. Desi Arnaz laughed when I told him it was time he stopped playing golf in Palm Springs and got back to work: "Why you want to put me to work all time? I'm busy with my ranch. Got quite an operation cooking I'm in the breeding business."

"That's not show business," I said. "Well, I've been reading lots of stuff, but don't want to do another series." He sounds mighty happy. Says his bride gets up at 6:30 a.m. and cooks breakfast before he takes to the golf course: has the most wonderful disposition in the world.

CLARIRE TREVOR claims she wants to get back to work, but life is so beautiful at Newport Beach, I doubt this. She's wanted for "How to Murder Your Wife" and the Pasadena Playhouse would like her in "A Touch of the Poet." So far she's not made up her mind. Her husband, Milton Bren, got himself a job. His son, Donald, is so busy in the construction business he had to hire an executive to wind up a 40-house project. Told his dad if he'd take the job he could make his own hours and terms. Dad went to work. His son, Peter, in the same business, has his name on a huge building on Sunset. Chuck, the youngest, wanted to act but after a year of nothing accepted his brother Don's offer to hand out the Oscars. Because of the phone strike, Santa Monica may be out. Next possibility is the 7,000-seat shrine (that's the night I'll watch it on TV). Since about half the nominees are English, why don't they just move it over to London's Albert Hall? Music lovers won't want to miss Igor Gorin, Metropolitan baritone, assisted by the Southern California Mormon Choir on Friday the Philharmonic.

KATE SMITH, here for a Hollywood Palace show, told me she's signed a new three-year contract with RCA and will do about seven TV shows a year. That's all the work she wants: "I have a happy life living in Palm Beach in winter and the Adirondacks in summer." She took time out to visit the Harry Brands, devoted friends for years. Don't be surprised if Ralph Edwards is back on TV with This Is Your Life. The English version is still running, but they canceled out the other evening when the subject, Olivia De Havilland, learned the secret. They'd flown in 15 people from all over the world, but called the whole thing off and ran a film.

CARSON PROGRAM—"My Three Angels" will be program will include an all-girl musical ensemble and Friday nights at 7:30 p.m. by the American Collegiate Players from Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas. The program will include an all-girl musical ensemble and a hootenanny trio.

Underground Cable Being Built Across Nation

NEW YORK (AP)—A wrist-thick cable now worming its way underground across the nation may provide the only direct transcontinental telephone communication in the event of a nuclear blast.

The 3,218-mile cable is much like six others already in transcontinental operation except that it is buried five feet underground instead of the normal 3½ feet.

It also differs from the other lines because all its relay and other stations are sunk deep underground in concrete cocoons.

"Let's say that this cable will be blast-proof," said a spokesman for the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. "A direct nuclear blast certainly would cut it, but I doubt that it."

He said the cable is being so located that it will be out of any of the nation's prime target areas.

The cable now is in use between a point in upstate New York and Fairfield, Kan. It is scheduled for completion to the West Coast sometime late this year.

The Pacific Telephone Co. already has laid the cable and installed relay and other equipment along much of the 612 miles it will cover in Southern California.

Over-all cost was set at $200 million—the most expensive project of its kind in the United States.

"This is not a government-sponsored project, rather it is another step taken by the Bell System to insure survivability," the company said.

The project was begun in upstate New York in 1960.

The cable when completed will be capable of handling 9,000 simultaneous calls—at least 2,000 more than can now be handled by any of the other six cables.

"A serious natural disaster might break another cable where it will have to go 18 inches deeper to get at this one," the spokesman said. "Eighteen inches in this particular case is quite a lot."

The spokesman said all future transcontinental cables probably would be of the same blast-proof design.

The installation includes 900 ground repeater stations and 11 huge switching centers, each the equivalent of a two-story building deposited underground in three-foot thick cement cases. Personnel manning the cen-

No Compromise, Say Malaysia And Indonesia

By GIL SANTOS
BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Indonesia and Malaysia stood pat today on conflicting demands as their representatives gathered in Bangkok for another conference with the Philippines on the Malaysia crisis.

Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio told newsmen his government insists a political settlement must be discussed along with talk about the shaky cease-fire along the border between Indonesian and Malaysian Borneo.

Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak of Malaysia said the cease-fire must be made effective before the ministers take up political problems.

Ministers of the three nations, with Thai officials acting as mediators, are meeting for the second time in a month to try to agree on a basis for settlement of the crisis.

The Philippines and Indonesia want a summit parley of Indonesian President Sukarno, Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia and President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines.

Razak repeated Malaysia's stand that there can be no summit meeting "until the cease-fire is settled."

Subandrio said he had brought no specific proposals from Jakarta.

Indonesia prefers to discuss simultaneously all aspects of the problem," he told newsmen.

Abdul Rahman spent the weekend conferring at a Thai resort with Thailand's Foreign Minister Thanat Khomut and came to Bangkok Monday.

A government statement issued in Kuala Lumpur said the Indonesia's most recent political demand has been for a plebiscite in which the people of Sarawak and Sabah could say whether they want to be part of Malaysia. Indonesia also wants Britain forced out of the miliprime minister would remain in Bangkok "for a few days to make himself available for consultation with the Malaysian delegation."

Malaysia is demanding that 200 anti-Malaysian guerrillas operating in the Malaysian states of Sarawak and Sabah be withdrawn or disarmed.

Sukarno's government insists that the guerrillas remain where they are and says it is going to supply them by air drops. Malaysia has threatened to shoot down any planes that trespass its territory.

Poll Shows Army Wives Are Happily Married Gals

Fort Carson wives are happily married women!

They said so unanimously in a poll taken among 300 women attending a recent Officers' Wives Club luncheon at the mountain post when they answered questions in detailed written but unsigned questionnaires.

If the divorce rate is considered a criteria, Army marriages passed the test with an overwhelming vote of confidence. Only two women present had been previously married. Statistics currently put the national divorce rate at one out of every four marriages.

Whether the Army as a way of life produces sounder marriages brought different opinions. Roughly a third replied yes, another third said no and the rest weren't sure.

Why should the Army's way of life make for stronger marriages? The women listed 10 major factors:

Ingenuity required of Army wives in adjusting to hardship and constantly varying locations.

Army couples are cut loose from families and friends and all of the influences of any given locality. The need for couples to make their own decisions without assistance or interference is greater.

The flexibility of Army life making it easier to adjust to the day-by-day give-and-take demands of marriage.

The security of Army life, with its reassurance of retirement income and freedom from such crippling worries as medical expenses.

The adventure of frequent change of situations and new environment, which put a zest into married life.

Service to one's neighbor, the helpfulness to new arrivals, departing friends and the assistance extended automatically to those in time of emergency, which results in a kind of continued therapy.

Financial stability required of every officer is reflected in a sound money management of household and personal finances.

High degree of discipline required of Army officers is carried over into husband-wife and parent-child relationships with the firmer discipline making for greater stability of homelife.

Frequent "reunion honey-moons" following separation by military orders.

High selectivity rate which assures the services of higher character and education in its men.

Compilation of the questionnaires indicates wives of Fort Carson officers are happy with the service and their military marriage.

Cowbelles Stage Tea And Dinner

The tea and fashion show given by the Pikes Peak Cowbelles was well attended. Mrs. Rex Bennett planned the event with the assistance of Mrs. Charles Bradley and Mrs. Garrel Poulson.

Brief reports were given by chairman of committees. The main objective of Cowbelles is to promote beef. This is done in various ways. "Beef for Father's Day" is perhaps the biggest concerted drive in this promotion.

The fashion show was presented by the Mannequin Dress Shop, in which many of the newest spring styles and colors were shown. One of the models was a local Cowbelle, Mrs. Robert Lee; another was Pat Lukovitch, Miss Colorado Springs Junior Miss. This tea and fashion show was so well received that it will probably become an annual affair.

At 7 p.m. a steak dinner was served to 175 Cattlemen, Cowbelles, and guests. Bob Johnson, president of the Colorado Cattlemen's Association was the speaker.

New officers were introduced by outgoing president, Leonard Tarpenning.

Officers for the Pikes Peak Cattlemen's Association are: president, Tom Watt; vice president, Bob Burghardt, Jr.; treasurer, Joe Hatten; secretary, Bill Ward.

Officers for the coming year for the Cowbelles are: Mrs. Charles Bradley, re-elected president; first vice president, Mrs. Virgil Gieck; second vice president, Mrs. Rex Bennett; secretary, Mrs. Clinton Williams; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Smith, also re-elected.

Ladies who are interested in promoting beef are invited to join Cowbelles. Contact any of the above named officers.

One of the easiest things to postpone is the making of your will. You have spent your lifetime accumulating property for the benefit of yourself and your family. If you postpone the few hours necessary to plan and work out your will with your attorney, you can undo these years of work, because you have failed to complete the job.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:
Recently we had a baby shower for one of our friends and we tried to have something different. We went to the dime store and bought those tiny, tiny plastic dolls.

We dropped one baby doll into each compartment of our ice cube tray, filled it up with water and used these fancy cubes for our decorative drinks.

If making more than one tray of these decorative cubes, place some food coloring (various colors when mixed together are pretty) in the water so that the ice will be slightly tinted. Real pretty. —Kathy Cristy

I think this is an absolutely fabulous idea! It just gave me another one: (an idea, not a baby!)

Take little, tiny frozen juice cans, fill them with water and put in your freezer until the ice is slightly mushy. Go to your dime store and buy any kind of miniature plastic toy and put down into the partly frozen ice. If the ice is partly frozen it keeps the toy from floating to the top.

This way when you serve an iced drink you have just "one" ice cube with the toy inside. You should see it through a glass of liquid. It magnifies.

For little boys, tiny soldiers may be used.

For girls' parties, toy dishes may be used. (Watch the children let the ice melt and take them home as souvenirs).

For bridal showers, miniature brides and grooms could be used.

Just walk along your dime store counter and see how many variations you can find. Go on and try it and knock them cold.

Thanks, Cathy, for tipping us off on this. —Love, Heloise.

Dear Heloise:

Before attempting to remove smoke stains from a fireplace, make sure you are familiar with these facts:

Be sure you know whether your brick is classified as hard or soft brick. Soft brick, pumice or porous or clay brick must not be washed. Instead a dry cleaning method is suggested.

Use a steel brush ("caution"—do not use a "new" steel brush as the bristles are coated with a film of oil to prevent them from rusting, and this oil film will stain light colored brick). Liquid cleaning is not recommended for these types of bricks as the smoke and dirt tend to dissolve and will soak into the porous brick.

Brisk rubbing with a clean steel brush is the only recommended method for removing smoke stains from this category of soft bricks.

In extreme cases, or cases where it is not possible to clean the brick, an application of brick paint makes an attractive finish. Care must be used in applying the proper paint and the application should be done in the manner which will leave the mortar in its natural color. —Mrs. Robert Campbell

Dear Heloise:

When removing window screens for the winter we wash the screens before putting them away. After they are thoroughly dry we used to just stack them against the wall in our basement but . . . when summer came and it was time for them to be put up again they were always filled with dust.

We have eliminated this problem by putting a plastic garment bag over the screens now before we store them.

When summer comes it is amazing how much time it saves not to have to wash or dust the screens again.

It is a true fact that your windows will not stay clean if your screens are dirty.

We use this same method when storing storm windows. —Anthony A.

Dear Heloise:

When the sleeves on my children's coats and jackets get too short—I add knitted cuffs (if they don't already have them) and can get an extra year's wear out of most of their coats this way. Knitted cuffs come in any color and may be bought in dime stores (in both children and adult sizes).

I took an old jacket of one of the boys, relined it, added new cuffs and it looks just like new. —Mrs. Eddy Cooper

And don't forget that the cuffs on your husband's expensive windbreaker can easily be replaced, too.

Also, if you happen to have the type windbreaker with the knitted neck . . . you can split open one of these cuff bands and use it to replace the worn neckband. I have done this many times. —Heloise

WOMAN'S PRIVILEGE FACT OR FANCY?
NEW YORK (UPI)—Is it true that women can't make up their minds—especially when shopping? Is it also true that changing her mind is a way of feminine life?

Emphatically no, says a recent survey of 4,000 supermarket shoppers conducted by Stokely-Van Camp. It was proved, the survey said, that a woman can scan and identify 350 items in a second, makes up her mind which item to choose in one-fifth of a second and, what is more, she rarely changes it.

DEAR ABBY: My brother, two sisters and I are married and we all live in Oakland, California. My mother, who is 76, lives alone in Illinois. She has relatives there, but none of them bothers with her. She has fought with every companion we've hired to live with her, and she's getting to the point where she shouldn't be living alone. (Her hearing is failing and she is very forgetful). I have begged her to come to California and live with me, but she doesn't want to move. If she wanted to be independent she could have her own apartment near me, where I would be only minutes away if she needed me for anything. She has plenty of money in the bank and a monthly income. She refuses to move, and all she talks about is dying. I certainly can't move to Illinois. What's the solution? —NO NAMES PLEASE

DEAR ABBY: For two years I have been married to a man who had been married for 16 years to another woman. She passed away. Something has been irritating me, and I don't know whether I should mention it to Roswell or not. He has the habit of referring to his first wife as "MY WIFE." Abby, I am his wife!

Don't you think he should either refer to her by name, or else as my "FIRST WIFE" or even my "FORMER WIFE"? I don't expect him to blot out the memory of 16 years with another woman, but it hurts me

DEAR ABBY: I am 100 per cent with that man from California who said that all women who wore slacks on the street should be fined. The woman who wrote in and told him to go jump in the lake, should go jump in her Bible. I refer to Deuteronomy: Chapter 22, Verse 5: "The woman shall not wear that which pertaineth unto a man, neither shall a man put on a woman's garment: for all that do are abomination unto the Lord, thy God." —KNOWS MY BIBLE

Dear Abby--

Pick an 'Off' Season!
DEAR ABBY: My brother, two sisters and I are married and we all live in Oakland, California. My mother, who is 76, lives alone in Illinois. She has relatives there, but none of them bothers with her. She has fought with every companion we've hired to live with her, and she's getting to the point where she shouldn't be living alone. (Her hearing is failing and she is very forgetful). I have begged her to come to California and live with me, but she doesn't want to move. If she wanted to be independent she could have her own apartment near me, where I would be only minutes away if she needed me for anything. She has plenty of money in the bank and a monthly income. She refuses to move, and all she talks about is dying. I certainly can't move to Illinois. What's the solution? —NO NAMES PLEASE

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Popeye's Wife" that LOVE, not TEETH, is the magic ingredient which changes a kiss from nothing to something. —ONE WHO KNOWS

Goren on Bridge

Goren on Bridge
Neither vulnerable. East glances in hearts; however, I was able to glean some very pertinent information from the bidding which convinced me otherwise. On the evidence available from the first four tricks, East was revealed to have four clubs and one diamond. He must therefore have four spades and four hearts, because holding a five card suit he would hardly have opened the bidding with one club. I accordingly played him for all the missing trumps.

Western Swine Growers Due at Lamar This Week

'CHARCOAL GRAY'
FOR WORK CLOTHES

NEW YORK (UPI) — The man wearing charcoal gray these days is just as likely to be a construction worker, riveter or laborer as a Madison Avenue advertising executive.

Reports from around the country indicate the working man is asking for charcoal and olive tones in addition to the traditional work clothing colors, says Meinhard-Commercial Corporation, factoring and financing subsidiary of C.I.T. Financial Corporation.

Swine growers from many western states will be demonstrating their ability to produce hogs featuring more lean meat at the fifth annual All America Market Hog Show in Lamar, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, where more than $700 in cash plus jackpot premiums and trophies are being offered winners.

Keen competition from both senior and junior entries is expected in carcass and judging contests and the live show division of the three day event. Other features include a littermate sale, apple pie baking contest and an educational program. With emphasis on meat, "It's the Carcass that Counts."

The All America Market Hog Show is the only all breeds show featuring a littermate sale of breeding stock which requires entry of a littermate barrow or gilt in the carcass contest. Littermate carcasses are judged and carcass data evaluated and tabulated. This information is available to all prospective buyers at the sale which concludes a busy three-day program.

All entries must be in place by 12 noon Thursday. Weighing of carcass entries will follow at 1 p.m. All classes will be sifted by 3 p.m. and judging is scheduled Friday, beginning at 8 a.m.

The annual swine growers banquet is Friday at 6:30 p.m. Saturday's program features the judging contest, apple pie baking contest, breeders and feeders educational program, carcass review, presentation of trophies and the littermate sale.

Speakers on the Saturday program will include Dr. George Chandler, Longmont, Colo., practicing veterinarian, to discuss methods of stopping disease losses before they start; Dr. Thomas Southerland, professor of animal science at Colorado State University, will talk on "Genetics of the Meat Type Hog" including breeding and testing results at various experiment stations.

Harry E. Crim, farm management specialist at Colorado State University, is to discuss economic aspects of building and equipment for hog production. Carl Herzman, CSU Extension Service agricultural programs leader, is chairman of the educational program.

Carcass contest judge is Lowell E. Walters, professor of animal husbandry at Oklahoma State University. Judge for the live show is R. B. Warren, assistant professor, animal science department, university of Nebraska. Keith Goode of Laconia, Iowa, will be auctioneer for the littermate sale.

The apple pie baking contest will be judged by Mrs. Wilbur Miles, Las Animas, Miss Janice Quam, Bent County Extension Home Agent, and Mrs. Ivan Gruber, Walsh. Divisions in this event are for boys and girls, young homemakers and senior homemakers.

All phases of the show are open to the public, either as exhibitor, judge, buyer, or spectator, explains Fred A. Fitzsimmons, general manager. It is sponsored by the Prowers County Farm Bureau and more than 40 business and civic organizations. C S U is co-sponsoring the educational program.

Stock Demonstration Saturday in Canon City

A demonstration on feeder cattle will be held at the Fair Grounds at Canon City, starting at 9:30 a.m., Saturday. Paul Pattengill and William Culbertson of Colorado State College will be in charge.

All 4-H Club members who are interested in livestock judging are invited to attend.

Capitol pages attend school in Washington in the Library of Congress. Classes begin at 6:30 a.m.

4-H Junior Leader Trip Set

Junior leaders from 4-H clubs in the Pikes Peak Region have an opportunity to compete for appointments to a citizenship and government study trip which will be made to Washington, D. C., July 12-18.

The trip is sponsored by the El Paso County 4-H Foundation, the Midland Federal Savings and Loan Association of Denver, the Colorado State University Extension Service and other county 4-H foundations and councils.

Last year, the first year this program was held, 4-H members from 33 Colorado counties made the trip. So that each county will have the opportunity to participate in the program, qualified delegates from the 24 counties not represented in 1963 will be given preference in the selection this year. The remaining nine delegates will be selected on a merit basis from the state at large.

To qualify for the program, a 4-H member must be at least 16 on Jan. 1, must have had at least one year of junior leadership experience and must be currently enrolled in a junior leadership program.

Printed announcements of the program and application forms were distributed to all county extension agents who will make them available to 4-H members in their counties. Completed applications must be returned to the respective county extension office by March 20.

Rolin D. Barnard, president of Midland Federal Savings and Loan said recently that "the major purpose of the trip is to expose these outstanding boys and girls to the workings of our government."

"Washington," he continued, "becomes a living classroom in democracy. They have the opportunity to meet with other 4-H members from around the country, to talk personally with Colorado's Congressional delegation and absorb some of the history and meaning of national shrines."

State Farmers, Ranchers Borrow Record Sums

The eight Production Credit Associations in Colorado loaned a total of $121,151,000 to Colorado farmers and ranchers during the 1963 calendar year ending Dec. 31.

Kenneth M. Lyon, president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Wichita, Kan., said this volume represented an increase of about $16 million from the same period in 1962.

The Federal Intermediate Credit Bank serves as a "wholesaler" of short and intermediate-term credit, providing funds required by local PCAs in the four-state area of Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, and Oklahoma.

Lyon also reported an increase in the bank's volume of loans and discounts outstanding. There was $187 million in short and intermediate-term loans at the close of the 1963 calendar year compared to $162 million at the close of the 1962 calendar year.

"Higher operating costs and the increased size of farm and ranch units are the prime factors in our business volume," Lyon said. He pointed out that the majority of PCA loans were used for general operating expenses and for the purchase of livestock.

The 41 production credit associations in the four-state district own about $3.8 million in capital stock in the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Wichita. This represents over 29 percent of the capital.

The associations began the program of buying the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank in 1957 and farmer members will eventually own the bank.

QUESTION: As long as I am a good Christian, I don't see why it is necessary for me to accept the Bible. —M. K.

ANSWER: Being a Christian involves believing in Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord and in trying to know and do His holy will in our own lives. The importance of the Bible rests in the fact that it tells us about Jesus and reveals His will for daily living. If we are going to play a game, we find out what the rules are and play by them. While it is true that being a Christian means the acceptance of a person, not a book, nevertheless, it is in that book, the Bible, that we learn who Jesus is: How He came into the world; what He did while here; how He died and why; how He arose from the dead and ascended up into heaven and how He is coming back some day to reign and judge all men. The Christ who saves men is the Christ revealed to us in the Bible, otherwise we have simply the Christ of man's imagination, and there is a great difference.

More than that, as we read the Bible we become conscious of the fact that it is different from all other books. Written by many men of different nationalities and backgrounds and over a period of many centuries, it fits together into a perfect whole. Only God's Holy Spirit could have produced such a book. Finally, the Bible is to be judged also by the effect that it has on those who read it. Here again we become conscious of the Holy Spirit speaking to our hearts. The Bible convicts us of sin and tells us of the One who saves. It also tells us how to live each day so that our lives reflect the Spirit of Christ—in our attitude to God and in our dealings with our fellow men.

WART REMEDIES
The Russians report using liquid nitrogen to remove warts from the face, hands, and feet.
One or two applications are given for those on the face and up to three on the hands. Many more are needed for plantar warts on the soles, according to the story in a recent issue of Medical World News.

We wrote about this method in 1955. Dr. Wayne Wright of Oakland, Cal., analyzed the results of eight different remedies on a group of 451 plantar wart patients. He found liquid nitrogen superior to electrocautery, X-ray, carbon dioxide snow, and the local injection of a variety of substances. Within 36 to 48 hours after applying liquid nitrogen, the wart could be scooped out with a scalpel or a scalpel blade. The cure rate was 73.7 per cent.

More than a year ago we wrote about the hot water technique. The warts are soaked for an hour or more and the trick is to keep the temperature of the water between 113 and 118 degrees F. Several immersions are necessary. We have not seen a follow-up report on this method but it is harmless and worth trying on youngsters with numerous warts and plenty of time.

The trouble with trying to evaluate these therapies is that warts—or their owners—are so susceptible to suggestion. Warts have disappeared after rubbing with a kernel of corn or a potato peeling, provided the victim is convinced of the magic power of the substance. Good results from more scientific treatments may have the same psychological basis.

The psychic effect is difficult to understand because warts are caused by a virus. They are slightly contagious and prefer areas of skin subjected to injury or prolonged pressure. This may explain why the fingers, hands, and wrists are the most frequently involved sites. The majority reach a certain size and stay that way for months or years. They are more annoying than serious but the tendency is to toy with them until they become irritated or infected. Removal is recommended when they are unsightly or located in an area likely to be irritated.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics in stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Reducing Tension
M. M. writes: How do tranquilizers help high blood pressure?

Reply
Many factors contribute toward raising the blood pressure.
The list includes hormones, enzymes, chemicals such as salt, and disturbances of the heart and kidneys. The nervous system also plays a role and it is here that tranquilizers enter the picture by lessening anxiety and tension and promoting rest and relaxation.

Don't Guess
M. T. writes: Is it a sign of diabetes to be sleepy all the time, regardless of the amount of sleep obtained?

Reply
This is one symptom of uncontrolled diabetes and a simple urine test at this stage of the disease will answer the question. Elderly diabetics often are drowsy after breakfast.

Don't Strain
M. M. writes: Is constipation in a heart patient symbolic of anything?

Reply
No. It is treated usually in the same way as in the non-cardiac patient. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on constipation.

NOISY AIDS
P. U. writes: It is harmful to wear a hearing aid during a thunderstorm?

REPLY
No, but switch it off. This device amplifies sound and loud, crackling noises overstimulate the ears.

ARADCOM Head, Aide to Attend East Conference

Walter K. Koch of Denver, the civilian aide to the secretary of the Army from Colorado, will accompany Lt. Gen. Charles B. Duff, commanding general, Army Air Defense Command, to the annual conference of Army civilian aides in Washington this week.

The tenth national conference of the civilian aides will be held Thursday and Friday and will feature presentations by key members of the Army staff. It is designed to bring the civilian aides up to date on recent developments within the Army and plans for the future.

The 66 civilian aides to Secretary of the Army Stephen Ailes, represent the Army in every state and Puerto Rico.

They interpret the Army's policies and objectives for civilian communities in their areas of interest and advise the secretary and the Army's chief of staff, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, on matters of mutual interest to the public and the Army. Aides are appointed for two-year terms and serve without remuneration.

Also attending the conference will be assistant secretaries of the Army, key members of the Army staff at the Pentagon, and commanding generals of such Army major commands.

These commands include ARADCOM, with headquarters in Colorado Springs; the Continental Army Command, the six continental U. S. Armies; the Military District of Washington; the Army Antilles Command of Puerto Rico; and the U. S. Army Alaska.

Secretary Ailes will open the conference Thursday with welcoming remarks at the National War College at Fort McNair, site of the conference. General Wheeler will address the conferees the same morning.

Koch and Gen. Duff, will leave Colorado Springs for Washington Wednesday morning and return Saturday morning. They will be accompanied by Col. Gordon A. Moon II, ARADCOM information officer, and Maj. William D. Duffy, the general's aide-de-camp.

Koch, who is president of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co., has served as Colorado aide to the secretary of the Army since 1956.

AFA Needs Badges for Its History

The Air Force Academy needs some help with its history.

A display tracing development of military aviation badges is part of the Academy Visitors Center collection. At present, the Academy needs 13 badges dating from 1917 to 1941 to complete the history.

Eight of the badges are World War I issue. All are embroidered.

They include: dating from Aug. 14, 1917, junior military aviator, silver bullion on dark blue felt; and three enlisted rating sleeve patches, white silk on blue felt, enlisted pilot, aviation mechanic, and other ratings.

The Oct. 27, 1917, military's aviator's badge is also needed. It is embroidered silver bullion on dary blue felt with U.S. in gold.

Three embroidered badges, issued Dec. 29, 1917, are on the needed list. They are: observer, silver bullion on dark blue felt; and military aeronaut and junior and reserve military aeronaut, white silk on dark blue felt.

First of the oxidized silver insignia dating to Dec. 21, 1918, are needed. Included are military aviator and junior and reserve military aviator; military aeronaut and junior and reserve military aeronaut; and observer.

Silver wings of an observer, June 25, 1919, are also needed, as are observer (qualified as pilot), dating from Nov. 12, 1920.

Three World War II badges are sought. They include: technical observer, senior balloon pilot, and balloon observer, all dating to Nov. 10, 1941.

Persons desiring to donate badges to the collection should send them to: Office of Information, Air Force Academy, Colo. 80840.

"EARMARKED"

The allusion that something is "earmarked" when it is appropriated for a specific use comes from the English farmers' practice of notching the ears of their cattle to permanently identify them.

Geophysical Firm Becomes Subsidiary of Ampex Corp.

Mandel Industries, Inc., diversified manufacturing and geophysical service company headquartered in Houston, Tex., Tuesday became a subsidiary of Ampex Corp., of Redwood City, Calif., and Colorado Springs. The announcement was made by William E. Roberts, Ampex president and chief executive officer. Shareholders representing more than 80 per cent of Mandrel shares have agreed to the proposed exchange of 10 shares of Mandrel for nine of Ampex. Sales, revenues and earnings of the two companies will be consolidated for the Ampex fiscal year which ends May 2, 1964. Roberts said the acquisition of Mandrel represents a step in a planned program of diversification in growth fields outside Ampex current fields of interest, and in the reduction of the company's dependence on defense oriented business. The addition of Mandrel will reduce the percentage of Ampex defense business from approximately 40 per cent to 29 per cent for the current fiscal year. "Combination of Ampex skill in designing and manufacturing precise equipment to detect, record and process information with Mandrel's extensive operation services in geophysical exploration should create a strong and versatile means of advancing such explorations and research," Roberts said. Ampex develops and manufactures electronic recording and data storage equipment for industry, government, broadcasting, education, medical science and the home. Mandrel is a worldwide geophysical service company and manufacturer of geophysical re-

City Jury Finds Driver Guilty on Traffic Count

A six-member jury this morning in Municipal Court found Edward Nelson, 49, of 2209 Rob-in Dr., guilty on a charge of careless driving. Nelson had been charged with reckless driving. Judge Allan Asher fined Nelson $50 and granted him a 10-day stay of execution. Nelson was defended by attorney Allen Compton. Evidence presented by Deputy City Attorney Bob Isaac was that about 10:30 p.m. on Dec. 20, the defendant struck a parked car while driving east on Kiowa Street in the 500 block. The parked car was pushed up over the curb, and Nelson continued on for some 80 feet before coming to rest over the curb, against a tree. Testimony by the investigating officer, Cpl. Emmett Butler, was that Nelson was under the influence of alcohol; in fact, Butler said in his opinion, the defendant was "drunk." Thelma Bellamy, 532 E. Kiowa St., owner of the car Nelson struck, said she heard the impact, rushed out, saw the defendant's car back off from the tree and continue on a little way down the street. She said her car was a total loss. Nelson testified that he had stopped at the Embers and had "not more than three" vodka tonics shortly before the accident. His defense was that he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car. He said his first reaction was to pull away to the right to get out of the direct route of the west-bound car. He also said he did not see Miss Bellamy's car until after the impact. Compton pointed out that Nelson had not been charged with driving under the influence and further, had not been charged with being drunk. He charged that if the defendant was drunk as Butler had said, then the Police Department was derelict in its duties to safeguard the citizens of Colorado Springs. Isaac had asked the jury to bring in a verdict of guilty to the reckless charge on grounds that Nelson had admitted having more than the usual trouble with blinding lights, and because he was under the influence of alcohol. Compton maintained that Nelson's drinking was "only an element"; and not a cause of the accident. The jury of two women and four men deliberated for 15 minutes before bringing in a guilty finding to the lesser charge of careless driving.

U. S. and Panama Move Toward Settling Dispute

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Panama appeared today to be moving toward a settlement of their bitter dispute over the Panama Canal. Panama's President Roberto Chiari announced Monday night that he believed President Johnson had opened the way for a solution of the seven-week-old crisis.

Almost immediately a five-member mediation team of the Organization of American States went into a midnight session here with Panama's OAS Ambassador Miguel J. Moreno. After the negotiators said the two countries were "moving fast and courageously" toward a settlement.

"I think we are getting close to a meeting of minds—I am optimistic," Ambassador Juan Piate of Paraguay, head of the mediation group, told The Associated Press.

Johnson launched his new effort to break the deadlocked dispute Saturday. He told his news conference the United States realizes the 1903 Panama Canal treaty "perhaps would require adjustment."

He added that diplomatic relations would have to be resumed without any preconditions before any changes could be considered.

Chiari expressed hope that the OAS group, "as much in President Johnson's words as in my own, will find new means that should serve to accelerate an adequate understanding in respect to the removal of the causes of the present conflict."

Crop production of American farms today is 70 per cent higher per acre than in 1919-21. Output per breeding animal is 90 per cent greater.

Medal of Honor Holders Meet At ARADCOM

Two holders of the nation's highest decoration, the Medal of Honor, met at Army Air Defense Command headquarters Friday.

They were M. Sgt. William J. Crawford of Palmer Lake and Col. Raymond Harvey, USA (Ret.), of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Harvey, who was here as a member of an ARADCOM "Operation Understanding" Group, was commanding officer of Company C, 17th Infantry Regiment, 7th Division, during the Korean War.

He was awarded his medal for wiping out Communists fighting from bunkers at a strategic spot about 13 miles south of the 38th parallel.

Sgt. Crawford, serving as a squad scout with the 37th Infantry Division near Altaville, Italy, during World War II, singlehandedly destroyed machine gun nests held by the Germans and cleared the way for his company's advance.

There are at present only about 290 living holders of the Medal of Honor, popularly known as the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Plans Detailed For Water in Pacific Southwest
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A $3.1 billion plan to develop the shrinking water supplies of the thirsty Pacific Southwest was spelled out in detail here by the Interior Department.

A revised report on the plan first revealed last August called on Congress for immediate authorization of projects in five states at a total cost of $1.7 billion.

The revised blueprint, put together after months of dickerings between state and federal officials, calls for federal construction of the $511 million Bridge Canyon and $239 million Marble Canyon hydroelectric projects in Arizona.

It also recommends construction of the long-pending Central Arizona project at a cost of $527 million and enlargement of the California State Aqueduct for $240 million.

The new report was made public when it was filed with the Federal Power Commission to support the Interior Department's effort to block state construction of the $239 million Marble Canyon project.

The report, signed by Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, also was sent to President Johnson for submission to Congress. It was rushed to completion to meet a deadline set by the FPC. The commission is considering an application from the Arizona Power Authority to build the Marble Canyon dam and applications from the APA and the city of Los Angeles to build the Bridge Canyon project.

Espionage Story Reported to Be Confusing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Polish agent who defected to the West in 1961 has been described as the source of information that led to the arrest of several important Soviet bloc spies operating outside the United States.

The Pole was identified by sources Monday as Michal Goleniewski who came to the United States in 1961 after reportedly having been in contact with U.S. intelligence agents in Poland since 1958.

The New York Journal-American ran a story about Goleniewski Monday and described him as having been a high-ranking operative in the Soviet Union's KGB until his defection.

The newspaper said he had informed U.S. officials that the Kremlin had placed cells in the Central Intelligence Agency and State Department which he was sure were still operating.

Sources said however that the information in the Journal-American was not consistent with information the defector had given the U.S. government.

The sources said Goleniewski, 41, had supplied plenty of information to U.S. intelligence which had been turned over to the FBI and fully checked out. Some of this information was said to have led to the downfall of important Soviet agents abroad.

CAPERING COPS
BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Lebanese Interior Minister Kamal Jumblatt has urged Beirut police to take dancing lessons so they may better enforce the ban on exotic dancing.

"Many of them cannot differentiate between a forbidden dance and another which is permitted," Jumblatt said in a TV interview.
